PGE TRACK RIPPED UP AS 'SPECIAL' RETURNS

NATO Talks Suez Crisis Next Week

TODAY'S DEVELOPMENTS

1. NATO council hurriedly called to Paris for Suez crisis talks next Wednesday.
2. Britain expels two Egyptian diplomats.
3. France airlifts troops to Cyprus, strategic British bastion 250 miles from canal.
4. Stock markets decline on broad front before new Suez crisis threats.

LONDON (AP)—The foreign office announced tonight that the North Atlantic council will meet in Paris next week to consider the Suez canal dispute.

Simultaneously, the foreign office revealed it had ordered two Egyptian diplomats to leave Britain within 72 hours.

Meanwhile, French troops are reported to have reached Cyprus by air to bolster Britain's terror-ridden bastion 250 miles from the Suez Canal. Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd will be Britain's representative at next week's hurriedly arranged meeting of NATO's top body. A foreign office spokesman said the meeting will open Wednesday.

In reply to a question the spokesman added that the meeting had already been arranged and invitations had gone out. He said that he did not know whether foreign ministers would be attending. The spokesman said he did not know which government had taken the initiative in calling the meeting.

Britain's expulsion of the Egyptian diplomats follows similar action by Egypt this week against two British diplomats at Cairo after allegations that the British Embassy there was involved in an alleged spy ring.

FRENCH TROOPS ARRIVE
The foreign office announcements came as the first elements of French troops assigned to Cyprus were reported to have arrived by air. Usually reliable sources said others were moving to the British bastion in the eastern Mediterranean by an armada of requisitioned ships.

French foreign office and defence department officials refused to confirm or deny the reports, widely published by Paris newspapers. They declined to publicly go beyond a foreign office communiqué which said the British government had agreed to a French request to temporarily station a contingent of French troops on Cyprus.

COMMITTEE MEETS
Meanwhile, the five-power committee which is to meet Egyptian President Nasser in Cairo Monday met for nearly two hours. A statement said the committee will hold another meeting Saturday before leaving for Cairo by plane Sunday. At the NATO meeting in Paris next week Britain and France presumably will put before their allies whatever measures they mean to take if talks with Nasser break down.

The Egyptian press, apparently with official sanction today continued to whip up charges that an alleged British spy ring had plotted a coup against President Nasser. Cairo authorities said two more Britons—seven in all—were named as members Wednesday by James Swinburn, alleged ring-leader of the plot. Egyptian newspapers say Swin-

15 Killed, Seven Survive CPA Air Crash in Alaska

Big Airliner From Vancouver Falls in Flames

VANCOUVER (CP)—A giant Canadian Pacific airliner caught fire in the air and crashed Wednesday night on the southwestern coast of Alaska and 15 of 22 persons aboard were dead or missing. The other seven survived.

Three Victorians were aboard.

Second Officer Robert Love, 28, is listed among the injured survivors. His wife and three children reside at 2789 Benson Place.

Two Victoria Chinese, Chan Tai and Chow Eng Hai, both in their 20s, are listed as "dead or unaccounted for."

The four-engine DC6B airliner, bound from Vancouver to Tokyo with eight crew members and 14 passengers, went down on a tidal flat near the CPA refueling base at Cold Bay, 1,710 miles northwest of Anchorage at the extreme tip of the peninsula.

A few hours after the crash came in bad weather, a rising tide began to flood the wreckage and hampered men searching for the missing.

Learned to Fly When 11 Years Old

Survivors included the plane's captain, Thornton Alexander Tweed, 32, whose bush pilot father taught him to fly when he was 11 years old and who was the youngest pilot ever to solo in Canada. Captain Tweed, whose father died in a plane crash at Juneau, Alaska, in 1939, was injured.

The other survivors included three other members of the plane's crew and three passengers.

They were: Second officer Love, Steward Dolores Jordan, 26, whose father, Robert Jordan, lives in Calgary. Sharon Edelstein, 16, and her sister Patricia, 7, daughters of Ted Edelstein, CPA manager at Hong Kong.

York Sing Chan, Vancouver, one of 10 Oriental passengers. Name of one crew member was not available immediately. CPA said crew members unaccounted for or dead were:

First Officer Philip D. Iversen, 37, Vancouver.

Stewardess Evelyn Lee, 26, of Vancouver.

Stewardess Anita Wong, 25, of Vancouver.

First Officer Iversen was a regular captain who was making a familiarization flight for overseas duty. He had been flying for CPA out of Whitehorse, Y.T.

The other two western passengers aboard were Canadian Catholic priests, Rev. James MacIntosh of St. Andrews, N.S., and Rev. Vincent McGough of Toronto. They had sent a cable to the Scarborough Foreign Mission in Tokyo saying they were leaving Vancouver on flight 307, the one that crashed.

The plane was carrying less than half of its capacity load of 52 passengers when it left Vancouver at 5:30 p.m. PDT. The flight to Cold Bay normally takes seven hours.

Rescue Ships, Planes on Way

When the plane went down at 9:48 p.m., Kodiak time (12:48 a.m. PDT), U.S. rescue units sent out two amphibian planes—one from Kodiak and one from Adak—and two ships—the coast guard cutter Winona and the freighter Tom Bigbee, to search for the missing persons.

The hunt was hampered by extremely bad weather. Each of the planes carried a doctor and medical supplies. The injured persons rescued were to be flown to Elmendorf Field near Anchorage.

Cmdr. Clark said at least four of them were so badly injured they could not be moved without a doctor's aid.

The Edelstein girls, who escaped injury, were driven to the airport here by their mother. She came to Canada about six weeks ago with the girls and another daughter, Verona, 14. Mrs. Edelstein is visiting here and Verona is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Edelstein in Regina.

Mr. Edelstein was transferred from Calgary to Hong Kong two years ago. His wife said the girls were on their way back to school in Hong Kong had done "a lot of flying."

Investigation was planned immediately by the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board and the Canadian Transport Department. W. R. Lavery, inspector of civil aviation in Vancouver, has been sent to the scene to act as observer for the Canadian government.

CPA said the plane was a new one on the run. Its route would have taken it to Tokyo and Hong Kong and then back to Vancouver with the same stops. Then it would go as far south as Lima, Peru, and return through Mexico City to Vancouver.

The fact that it had made a stop at Mexico City led CPA officials to believe that some of the passengers might have come from Mexico, but this was not definite.

The crash was the airline's first since May 12, 1953, when a Canco was wrecked in the harbor at Prince Rupert, B.C., with the loss of two lives.

The airlines sent a DC6B relief plane to Cold Bay at 10 a.m. PDT today with operations personnel. The plane may bring back survivors who are able to travel.

CPA Passenger List

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian Pacific Airlines today provided this list of persons aboard its DC6B that crashed Wednesday night in Alaska:

Survivors: Capt. Thornton Alexander Tweed, 33, Burnaby, B.C., injured. Second Officer Robert Love, 28, Victoria, injured. Stewardess Dolores Jordan, 26, Burnaby, B.C., formerly of Calgary, injured. Sharon Edelstein, 16, and her sister, Patricia, 7, daughters of Ted Edelstein, CPA manager at Hong Kong, both uninjured. York Sing Chan, Vancouver. One unidentified crew member.

Dead or missing: First officer Philip D. Iversen, 37, Vancouver. Navigator William R. Hunter, 32, North Vancouver, B.C., formerly of Herbert, Sask.

CITY CHINESE AMONG MISSING

Two young Victoria Chinese men in their 20s are unaccounted for in the crash of the CPA plane.

They are Chan Tai, a partner in a Chinatown restaurant, and Chow Eng Hai, a greenhouse worker.

Both were en route to Hong Kong to get married. Both were China-born and came to Victoria a few years ago.

Chan Tai's father lives here at 543 1/2 Fisgard and parents of Chow Eng Hai live in Saanich.

DRIVER CRITICAL

Whips Over
At 115 mph

DETROIT (AP)—Veteran Detroit powerboat driver Joe Taggart suffered severe injuries today when Slo-Mo-Shun IV, which he was piloting in Gold Cup trials on the Detroit River, slipped over at about 115 miles an hour and sank. Taggart was taken to a hospital in a condition doctors said was so precarious they began treating him in an ambulance, fearing to remove him to the emergency room.

Two harbor policemen said Taggart was thrown 50 feet.

WANTED FOR SHOPLIFTING

Star Red Athlete
Hunted by Police

LONDON (UP)—Mrs. Nina Ponomareva, 210-pound Soviet Olympic discus champion, vanished today before she could be tried on charges she shoplifted five pastel berets from a London bargain basement.

Magistrate Clyde Wilson issued a warrant for the rearrest of the 27-year-old athlete but police said they could not find her at the Soviet Embassy, the consul or at the hotel where she has been staying.

Nina was arrested Wednesday for stealing five 90-cent pastel hats — "bakers boy berets" — from a cut-rate London department store. She was released without bail in the custody of a Soviet diplomat and ordered to show up in court today.

Police were still uncertain whether she was being hidden by Russian friends or whether the frightened and disgraced Olympic star had simply disappeared with her grief and embarrassment to avoid Soviet officials.

Two women store detectives seized the heavily-muscled mother Wednesday while she was looking at capitalistic fripperies in London shops during time off from training for a track meet.

She was booked at West End central police station and ordered to appear at Marlborough Street court at 10:30 a.m. Soviet Consul General Alexander Starsev promised to bring her to court and she was released without bail.

Magistrate Wilson called the case three times but neither Nina nor the diplomat showed up.

The barrel-chested, 27-year-old teacher and mother of one son, who won the women's discus title in the 1952 Olympics, was one of the Soviet Union's brightest hopes on the Soviet Olympic team which meets British track challengers here this weekend.

But today she was an outcast, shunned by embarrassed fellow team members.

Wednesday night at the Bayswater Hotel, teammates turned their backs on their star performer.

The husky athlete looked like a tearful little girl when she climbed the stairs to her room without any supper.

WIRE BRIEFS

Mayor Committed

GUELPH, Ont. (BUP)—Mayor Sam Wald of Palmerston, Ont., was committed for trial here on a charge that he advised electrician Louis Almachi to set fire to a furniture factory in which he had an interest. Wald partly owned and operated the plant. Wald pleaded innocent and elected trial without a jury.

Envoy Dead

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—Douglas Moffat, U.S. ambassador to Australia, died of a heart ailment at St. Vincent's Hospital here today.

Gift to Pakistan

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada will make a gift of 25,000 tons of wheat, valued at about $1.5 million, to aid flood-stricken victims in Pakistan, External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said today.

RCAF Jets Set Mark

HALIFAX (BUP)—Two RCAF Sabrejets landed at Shearwater naval air base near Halifax today to establish a new trans-Canada speed record of five hours and 30 seconds.

The previous record was held by a T-33 jet trainer which made the flight in six hours and 13 minutes.

Humber Watched

TORONTO (CP)—An anxious watch was placed on the Humber River early today as heavy rains swelled the river to flood level. Evacuations were under way in some areas.

What the PGE needs is somebody like Gus Ryder to make it go go go.

Guess nobody'll compliment that Eastbourne feller for gettin' his history.

Child Knows Daddy In 'Big Accident'

BY TONY DICKSON
Nancy, 5, knows daddy has been in a "big accident." Billy, 4, has a tot's idea something is wrong but Susan, 2, today is just her usual wide-eyed and happy elfish self.

These are the children of co-pilot Robert Love, 28, and pretty wife Beatrice, 25, 2789 Benson Place.

He is one of the survivors of the Alaska CPA crash.

"It's wonderful, it's wonderful," Mrs. Love said over and over again today when she learned Bob was alive.

She first heard of the crash at about 6:30 a.m. today from CPA. The company promised to keep her informed.

Relief erased frantic worry shortly after 8 a.m. when a wire came from Bob. It read "everything alright."

FINE PILOT

Said Mrs. Love of her husband of six years, "he's such a wonderful pilot, but every time he leaves us here I tell him to be careful, and think of the children."

The second officer's parents also live in Victoria, at 463 Chester. Said Mrs. W. F. Love: "Oh heavens we are relieved, but we're worried as to what sort of injuries he may have."

Robert Love is Victoria-born and attended Oak Bay High and Victoria College.

He joined the RCAF and graduated with pilot's wings from Centralia, Ont., winning the Armstrong-Siddeley Trophy for getting the highest marks of the graduating class.

He was six years in the RCAF as an instructor of NATO airmen, then spent a short time with the provincial forestry service in Chilliwack.

"But his love was flying, and he joined CPA in February last year," said Beatrice.

Thug Loses Weapon, Gets Clobbered

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. John Craddock, 34, told police she seized a hammer with which she was beaten by a man who broke into her home early today and drove the assailant off with head blows.

Officers said they found a man in a house a mile away suffering from severe head injuries and placed him under guard in General Hospital where Mrs. Craddock also was taken for treatment.

Gagliardi to Push New Island Roads

Start Next Year on Extending Island Highway to Pt. McNeill

A new road link with the forest-and-minerals-rich northern tip of Vancouver Island is scheduled to be started next year, Highway Minister Gagliardi announced Wednesday.

The multi-million dollar project, involving extension of the Island Highway on the east coast from Kelsey Bay to Port McNeill, was first disclosed during the last legislature session when Mr. Gagliardi referred to a "10 year plan."

Negotiations have been proceeding for the past few months between the government and industrial firms in the area and Mr. Gagliardi announced Wednesday that Alaska Pine and Cellulose has agreed to share the cost of the road.

Department of highways engineers will be sent to the area "as quickly as possible" to choose a route, the minister said.

The coastal route between Kelsey Bay and Port McNeill, about 50 miles, would be the shortest but may be too expensive because of rough terrain.

The alternative is a longer inland route through the Nimpkish Valley.

Long-range plans also call for construction of a number of roads on the tip linking such communities as Holberg, Coal Harbor, Port Alice, Englewood, Zebalos, Tahsis and Telegraph Cove.

Alaska Pine has operations at many of these points. Mr. Gagliardi said he did not know whether the company planned any expansion in connection with the road.

A number of recently-discovered mineral deposits in the Quatsino area would also benefit. Inaccessible farming land could be developed.

"This road will liberate people who now are bottled up in the area," Mr. Gagliardi said.

The upper island highway is also envisioned as a main route to Kitimat and upcoast points.

Mr. Gagliardi said Black Ball Ferries Ltd. had expressed interest in establishing a service from Port Hardy to Kitimat. Port McNeill and Port Hardy are already linked by a road.

WEST-AIDING PAKISTANI DIES AT 61

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for former Governor-General Ghulam Muhammad, the man chiefly responsible for aligning Pakistan with the West.

Muhammed died of a heart ailment Wednesday night at the age of 61.

As governor-general from 1951 to August, 1955, Ghulam Muhammad negotiated the agreements aligning Pakistan with the United States and later directed his nation to membership in the British-sponsored Baghdad Pact.

Polish Lothario Sentenced to Die For Six Murders

KRAKOW, Poland (Reuters)—Wladyslaw Mazurkiewicz, dubbed the Polish Don Juan, was sentenced to death here today for murdering four men and two women.

Mazurkiewicz, 45, a handsome man-about-town, admitted the murders when the trial opened and then withdrew his confession in the final stages.

He was alleged to have killed his victims between 1943 and 1955, disposing of the bodies of the four men in the River Vistula.

He was said to have buried two sisters—one of them still alive—in a hole in his garage.

The court was told he killed for money to meet his taste for high living.

Evidence showed that not until an intended seventh victim escaped with a bullet in his head was Mazurkiewicz found out.

Anscomb's Position Puzzles Politicians

(Special to the Times)
PRINCE GEORGE—Reports that former B.C. Progressive Conservative Party leader and finance minister Herbert Anscomb has patched up his long-standing feud with Premier W. A. C. Bennett and may support the Social Credit Party are keeping politicians abuzz aboard the special PGE inaugural train.

The rumors gained credence today when Mr. Anscomb declined to make any comment, saying he wanted time to consider his answer.

It all started through displays of great friendliness between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Anscomb during public appearances as the inaugural train progressed into the Cariboo and toward Prince George.

Mr. Anscomb was an invited guest on the train. When he was finance minister in the Coalition he was vice-president of the PGE.

"MY FRIEND"
He has been repeatedly introduced with a display of warmth by the premier as "My Conservative friend Mr. Anscomb, always a loyal supporter of the PGE."

Some politicians here suggest Mr. Anscomb does not want to be drawn into a political argument while he is Mr. Bennett's guest on the train, and for that reason declines to comment on the report one way or another.

They point out that Mr. Bennett and Mr. Anscomb were bitter rivals in the Tory party before the Coalition breakup in 1952. Mr. Bennett challenged him for the leadership in a convention of very high feelings in 1950.

Later Mr. Bennett repudiated Mr. Anscomb's leadership by walking across the floor of the legislature to sit with the opposition—a move which was the beginning of the end for Coalition and a forerunner of the rise in the Social Credit party.

Since the Coalition debacle of 1952 Mr. Anscomb has taken little active interest in politics. His place as leader of the provincial Tories was taken over by Deane Finlayson and Mr. Anscomb has devoted his time to business.

PAN FRIED CHICKEN

Coat chicken pieces with seasoned flour. (For each pound of chicken, blend ¼ cup flour, 1 tsp. salt, ½ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. paprika. If you prefer, add ½ tsp. poultry seasoning.) Brown pieces in about ½-inch hot fat in frying pan: turn to brown evenly. Reduce heat so fat just simmers. Cover tightly. Fry 30 to 40 minutes. Uncover pan for last 5 minutes to re-crisp the skin.

Rockets Light Sky As City Celebrates

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Political Reporter
PRINCE GEORGE—Portraits of Harry Perry, captioned "The Man Who Saved the PGE," were placarded all over this booming agricultural city of 12,000 Wednesday when Premier Bennett's "Election Special" reached the end of its chequered 470-mile journey from Vancouver.

It was the city's tribute to its former mayor and Liberal representative in the B.C. legislature, who now resides in Victoria.

But everyone who travelled aboard the three trains inaugurating the PGE's much heralded extension agreed that it was Premier Bennett's day. Enthusiasm boiled over as the premier stepped from his special coach into a jostling mass of 5,000 Prince Georgians surrounding the flag-decked station.

Rockets exploded above a fluttering sea of flags and a big brass band struck up a traditional musical welcome.

GALA CROWD

The city, bedecked with flags, banners and streamers, presented a gala appearance with excited townsfolk scrambling onto the roofs of buses and cars and nearby buildings to catch a glimpse of Mr. Bennett and his 250 guests.

The fact that the inaugural trains were 20 hours late because of a landslide was forgotten in the general atmosphere of carnival and rejoicing.

At Prince George, as at every one of the stops along the run, Premier Bennett introduced Mr. Perry as "the man who stopped the Liberals from scuttling the PGE here."

He put his arm around Mr. Perry's shoulder and said "Here is one of our great pioneers. I remember when he made the rafters ring in the legislature with his speeches in support of the PGE years ago."

The city had declared a civic holiday in honor of the railroad for which it has waited so long.

Night fell, it became one vast carnival area with chuck wagons racing through the streets, crowds singing and dancing behind torch bearers, killed pipe bands and a floor show with singers and dancers performing on the replica of a 90-foot bar used in Fort George around 1912, the year the PGE was first conceived.

FLAPJACKS

At the city centre 500 sat down to a loggers' breakfast of flapjacks, bacon, eggs and sausages with the premier and his cabinet seated with local dignitaries at the head table.

A lusty Cariboo welcome from the back of his coach to awaited the train at Quesnel where Premier Bennett spoke a crowd of 1,500 and the Quesnel firemen's band blared forth "Here the Conquering Hero Comes."

Mr. Bennett, Attorney-General Bonner, Mr. Williston and Mr. Gunderson continued north by car today to attend meetings at Dawson Creek tonight and Fort St. John Friday night.

Attorney-General 'Genius Or Incompetent'—Gregory

VANCOUVER (CP) — George Gregory, Liberal MLA for Victoria, said Wednesday night Attorney-General Bonner is "either a genius or he's incompetent."

The Victoria lawyer stoked further coals on the controversial Sturdy-Sommers case in a free-time television appearance.

He said Mr. Bonner has ignored statutory charges submitted by Charles Eversfield in this case.

"If those charges were true, Mr. Sommers was guilty of corruption. If the charges were false, Mr. Eversfield was guilty of perjury. These are two of the most serious offences in the Criminal Code."

"The attorney-general conducted his investigation into these charges in a two-hour period. He never moved out of his office."

"This man is either a genius or he's incompetent," he said.

The RCMP report on investigations of impropriety in the issuance of forest management licences by former lands and forests minister R. E. Sommers took five months and several thousand dollars.

Mr. Gregory said the attorney-general should release the "RCMP report immediately. If the evidence shows Sommers to be innocent then it should be made known so that the cloud will no longer hang over him. If not, Sommers should be charged."

Bonner Denial

Attorney-General Bonner denied Wednesday night he said he may consider releasing the RCMP report on the case.

Mr. Bonner, aboard the inaugural Pacific Great Eastern train, was quoted earlier as having told a reporter aboard the train he may consider releasing the report when he returns to Victoria possibly Friday.

"I have no comment on the court decision," he was quoted as saying. "But if the court finding requires me to consider releasing the RCMP report, I will do so on my return to Victoria."

Tory Proposal

ROSSLAND (CP) — Tom Mackae, president of the Rossland-Traill Progressive Conservative Association, called on R. E. Sommers Wednesday to resign as a candidate in the election.

Mr. Macrae, 33-year-old motel proprietor, issued a statement saying he will seek the Progressive Conservative nomination in his riding. The statement concluded:

"... I challenge Mr. Sommers to resign... if I am elected as a Progressive Conservative member, I will instantly resign this seat to make way for Bob Sommers the moment his name has been cleared by the court."

$16 Per Capita

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Progressive Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson said Wednesday his party, if in power, would make a uniform $16 per capita grant to every city, district, municipality and village in the province.

He told a Vancouver East nominating convention that the "$28 reward the premier proposes to give voters for returning his government to power is not the solution for tax relief."

Mr. Finlayson said a $16 per capita grant would be the "solution to relieving home owners from the burden of residential taxation."

Douglas Coming

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan will speak in Victoria Sept. 4 with all Greater Victoria CCF candidates at Central Junior High School.

All Candidates

All Victoria city candidates in the Sept. 19 election will be invited by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to speak at a public meeting in Central Junior high school Sept. 13.

Nominations

Here's a glance at new nominations—

At Hope, Joe Madden, local president of the IWA, was nominated CCF candidate for Yale riding.

At Dawson Creek, Hal Burton, an automobile dealer, won the Liberal nomination in South Peace River. Stan Carnell, former publisher of the Dawson Creek Star, will represent Social Credit and Roald Dahlen, an insurance man, the CCF.

Nelson-Creston LPP candidate will be Thomas E. Mountford, a Wynndell farmer.

Promises, Promises

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — John Squire, CCF candidate for Alberni riding, referred Wednesday to a Social Credit report of projects planned for the district as "promises on top of promises."

Mr. Squire made the statement after reading Social Credit candidate W. J. Carr's report and said commitments had already been obtained in connection with each project.

He said the government's assurance of a survey of a road for Comox-Alberni recalls Liberal promises in 1952.

Douglas Speech

ABBOTSFORD (CP) — Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan will speak at a CCF rally in the Canadian Legion auditorium here Sept. 6.

Mr. Squire said if all roads promised to the Alberni during election campaigns had materialized there would be no room for homes.

At Chilliwack, Michael V. Kournosoff, Fairfield dairy farmer, was nominated CCF candidate.

At Nanaimo, Peter Maffeo, prominent community worker and sports enthusiast, was nominated Liberal candidate.

At Vernon, John A. Davis, Vernon lawyer, was nominated Liberal candidate for North-Okanagan.

Yard Talks to Hypnotist In Rich Widow Deaths Probe

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — After examining more than 300 wills, they have narrowed the investigation to a dozen which are said to have shown suspicious similarities. All were of elderly women who died between 1934 and 1955.

Superintendent Herbert Hannam, in charge of the Scotland Yard inquiry, indicated this morning that he will decide within the next 48 hours whether the clues uncovered so far justify the exhumation of bodies.

CAIRO (AP) — The newspaper Al Ahram reported Wednesday that an Egyptian woman in Alexandria had given birth to triplets. Their names Gamal, Nehru and Tito.

There was no indication of what Bloomfield told the Yard about his patients, but he threw in a demonstration which, he told reporters, included the hypnotizing of a police sergeant.

Storm Signals

THE FINANCIAL RELATIONSHIP of the national to the provincial governments was fixed by law at the recent session of Parliament. But evidently it was not permanently fixed in terms of politics. This old and perennial problem of any federal state now looms on the horizon of the next general election—a cloud no bigger than a man's hand at present but likely to grow into a major storm.

To become a dominant election issue the division of the basic tax fields requires the pressure of a political party and a leader of ability. It seems likely that the Conservative Party and Premier Frost of Ontario will supply these necessary ingredients of a great national debate.

Mr. Frost, who is much more influential in Ontario than Mr. Drew, is dissatisfied with the Federal Government's tax formula known as Plan C.

Under this arrangement provincial governments may collect income, corporation and estate taxes and part of these collections will be deducted from the provincial taxpayer's federal taxes. The deduction for income taxes is 10 per cent, for corporation taxes 9 per cent, and for estate taxes 50 per cent. Mr. Frost insists that these figures be increased to 15 per cent for income taxes and 15 per cent for corporation taxes. (Apparently there is no dispute about estate taxes.)

The Frost formula would cost the national treasury a pretty penny. As it stands, Plan C means that the Federal Government must hand over revenues of $629 millions to the provinces, beginning next year. If Mr. Frost has his way that amount will rise to $972 millions—an increase of $342 millions. And the taxpayers of Canada as a whole must supply that money for the benefit of the provincial governments.

Mr. Frost is interested mainly, of course, in his government of Ontario. His plan would provide Ontario with $116 millions more than it can receive (without double taxation) under Plan C. Thus the national taxpayers must assume a huge new burden.

A Popular Feature

THE SUNSET CEREMONIES AT the Cenotaph have become a regular and popular feature of the summer season here. Excellent displays put on by the various military organizations have won the admiration of many thousands of Victorians and visitors.

As the final ceremony is held this evening it is appropriate to direct a word of thanks to those who have been responsible for the score of displays during the past few weeks. In particular, great credit is due to Brigadier John S. Adam, militia group commander, and Major Douglas Nelson, who co-ordinated the ceremonies.

The Fifth Harbor Defence Battery appeared on five occasions, the Air Force four times and the Navy, with Naden Band, three. Among Pressure on the College

TAXPAYERS OF GREATER VICTORIA need no reminder of the impact of postwar children on school costs.

The wave of new population rising in early war years and building to a peak, caused a construction program of staggering proportions. That imposed a heavy financial load on the public. And the public was warned that when the early stages of construction were completed—when the taxpayer had a chance to get his head above water—a new wave of population would hit.

That is recent history, as far as elementary schools, junior highs and high schools are concerned.

Within a year or two the rising swell of student population will break at the college level. The sheer numbers of our young generation, coupled with the modern parent's inclination to have his child proceed as high up the educational ladder as possible, spells problems of university accommodation.

Some of those problems will be considered by a special national conference in Ottawa next November on "The Crisis in Higher Education in Canada." Numbers alone will not necessarily dominate that gathering, but enrolment issues will be important.

In the meantime Victoria College, opening next month for the first time as an institution providing teacher training, expects a total student body den mainly for the purpose of benefiting Ontario.

Mr. Drew's only hope of large gains in the next election lies in Ontario, the historic stronghold of his party which, in modern times, has largely supported the Liberal Government at Ottawa. Therefore, Mr. Drew must go along with Mr. Frost in the tax problem, thus perhaps healing their breach in the pipeline issue. It can be assumed that Mr. Drew will support almost any tax formula that suits Mr. Frost and promises special benefits for the people of Ontario.

Mr. Frost has shown scant admiration for Mr. Drew but his position in Ontario is unchallengeable provincially and he can certainly influence the federal election there. With Mr. Frost and Mr. Drew joining in a fight for so-called provincial rights, the St. Laurent Government would undoubtedly face losses in Ontario. If Mr. Duplessis swung behind this attack on federal policies, as he probably would, the tax question might easily dominate the election. (Mr. Bennett no doubt would leap in at the right moment.)

At first sight it may seem like smart politics to demand a potlatch at the expense of the federal treasury. On second thoughts, however, the people outside the great central provinces will realize that under Mr. Frost's formula they must provide a lot of extra money mostly for Ontario's use. Even the Ontario taxpayers may not be eager to pay more money to Ottawa for Mr. Frost's convenience.

In any case, the Federal Government cannot afford to meet any demand that the provinces care to make. At the moment it is accumulating a revenue surplus—a good weapon against inflation—but all that money would be required to meet Mr. Frost's demands. It may be needed later on to pay for a national health insurance scheme and it is unlikely to continue for long. The Canadian people will hardly wish to raise their federal taxes to satisfy the provincial governments, especially when the provinces are entitled to levy any direct taxes they desire for their local purposes.

other participating units were the Canadian Scottish Regiment, the Queen's Own Rifles, No. 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, the University School Cadet Corps, HMCS Cougar Sea Scouts, Rainbow Sea Cadets, as well as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Legion of Frontiersmen.

Award of an inscribed plaque to the unit putting on the best performance of the year, and of a swag stick to the best turned-out man at each parade has stimulated interest among those taking part.

It is to be hoped that these picturesque ceremonies will be repeated next year. If public appreciation of the series is any criterion, there can be no question of their value and popularity.

of between 600 and 700. The estimate is based on the combined enrolments of the Normal School and Victoria College last year.

Though fees have gone up to $235, the figure applied at U.B.C. and in consequence will represent a tremendous increase from the $50 paid by Normal students last year, that is not expected to be a serious deterrent. Offsetting the increase will be the expanded loan and bursary system particularly favoring student-teachers.

At present the combined facilities at Mount Tolmie will provide sufficient classrooms for the anticipated number of students. But library facilities are already inadequate. The auditorium has a seating capacity for probably half the number of students and the gymnasium is lamentably undersized.

The indications of future expansion are obvious. Victoria College must grow physically to meet the needs of the larger body of students hoping to attend it in the next few years.

This expansion will, of course, be a provincial responsibility. At the same time, it is one to which the citizens of this community should give their attention. Victoria College is their senior institution of learning. It is now time for the public to adjust its thinking to the higher educational needs of the immediate future.

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Witness for the Defence

AS a theatrical production and a minor feat of the imagination one can recall nothing to equal Mr. Bennett's recent adventure with Mr. Charles Bowman, the father of Social Credit in Canada. This show was admirably staged, perfectly timed and no doubt captivated the audience. As a showman Mr. Bennett has few equals. But what of Mr. Bowman, the unconscious victim of this queer performance?

Mr. Bowman is a gentleman of the highest honor, quite incapable of any deception, as I can testify after knowing him for many years. As editor of the Ottawa Citizen he introduced the theory of Social Credit into Canada long before Mr. Aberhart heard of it and when Mr. Bennett was still an ardent, lifelong Conservative. On his retirement, Mr. Bowman lived for some years in California but has lately settled down, like all sensible men, in Victoria.

HEARING that Mr. Bowman was in these parts, Mr. Bennett conceived a brilliant idea, and executed it with his usual precision. When the newspaper correspondents entered the Premier's office the other day to receive their bi-weekly handout of propaganda they were confronted by Mr. Bowman. He had been introduced by Mr. Bennett as Exhibit A in the case for Social Credit (with certain ironic overtones which Mr. Bowman, a stranger, could not possibly understand.)

Thereupon, Mr. Bennett, who would have made an able journalist if his path had not led to higher things, undertook to interview Mr. Bowman for the benefit of the correspondents. That interview was a classic of irrelevance and Mr. Bowman obviously didn't know what was happening to him.

FOR here was the original Canadian philosopher of Social Credit advocating that doctrine under the sponsorship of Mr. Bennett and under the evident impression that Mr. Bennett was also a Social Credit.

Mr. Bennett beamed with delight as a man of Mr. Bowman's high reputation endorsed Social Credit. Mr. Bowman was delighted to find himself in the company of a statesman who has carried Social Credit to office. Everybody was delighted, especially the newspaper correspondents, who saw through the thin scenery and the stage properties skillfully manipulated by the master showman.

But no one present seems to have had the courage and charity to advise Mr. Bowman that Mr. Bennett is not a Social Credit, doesn't believe in Mr. Bowman's doctrine and regards most of the original revelation of the late Major Douglas as ridiculous.

It would be difficult, indeed, to find two Canadians further apart than Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bowman in background, political belief and disposition.

MR. BOWMAN hasn't been in Victoria long enough to understand these things. He will find out after a while. In the meantime, deluded by the label of Social Credit, he appears as the leading witness for the Government's defence. As an old friend and admirer of Mr. Bowman I feel that he has been shabbily used for the purposes of election propaganda.

Then came a masterpiece of logic. Winding up for his pitch, Mr. Bennett solemnly asked Mr. Bowman if it were not true that both the late Mackenzie King and the late Lord Bennett believed in "monetary reform."

Yes, said Mr. Bowman with complete honesty, they both believed in monetary reform. Mr. Bennett beamed again. He had both King and his famous namesake as witnesses for the defence. Two former Canadian prime ministers, a British Columbia Premier and an eminent journalist all believed in monetary reform. The case for the defence rested.

THUS by a superb non-sequitur, Mr. Bennett left the impression that Mackenzie King and Lord Bennett were really Social Crediters at heart, since they favored monetary reform. (They also favored prosperity, motherhood and the Canadian Way of Life.) In fact, as I know from his own lips, King, a professional economist, regarded Social Credit as a form of lunacy. I never discussed it with Lord Bennett but undoubtedly he would regard the suggestion that he believed in Social Credit as a form of insult. Mr. Bowman is quite right, of course, in saying that both King and Lord Bennett favored monetary reform and, between them, they completely changed our monetary system, Bennett founding the Bank of Canada and King converting it into a public institution to govern the monetary system.

BUT to say, on that account, that either of them believed in Social Credit is like saying that a man is a Communist because he believes in the city owning the waterworks or the fire department.

Mr. Bowman is a completely honest man and a devout believer in Social Credit. If he also believes in the Bennett Government that is his business, though I suspect he will change his mind after he has been around here a little longer. The point hidden by the theatrical performance is that Mr. Bowman and Mr. Bennett believe in two different things entirely.

MR. BOWMAN'S beliefs are well known, they were advocated in The Citizen so long as he was editor, but no longer, and their sincerity cannot be doubted. What Mr. Bennett believes finance I am not sure and his public statements show that he is not sure either.

We know, however, that the Social Credit Party, as distinguished from the original Social Credit movement, says that we may rely on its intellectual honesty because it really doesn't believe in Social Credit and can be trusted never to carry out its policies.

When Mr. Bowman has been back in Canada long enough to get his mind around these things he will realize that Mr. Bennett has taken him for a ride.

LIVING CO-OPERATIVE
The various tissues—brain, liver, skin, muscles and so on—are, of course, themselves the parts of still another organized system, the body as a whole. Each of them has its own task to do in the body and each of them depends on all the others. Individually they are insufficient, but jointly they make up a superbly adjusted working whole. This "biological organization," as I have called it—this carefully adjusted balance of co-operating parts—is the basic principle of all living entities. And we find these organized systems at every level, from the smallest living entities—too small to be seen even under the most powerful microscope—right up to populations and communities including human society.

Approves the Walkout

MAY I, through your paper, congratulate Whitey Severson, coach of the Victoria Shamrocks, the team and directors, on the stand they took in removing the team from the floor while playing the Vancouver Pilseners at Vancouver last Friday night. I feel that I speak for the majority of the Victoria fans when I say that it was a desperate measure taken in the hope of saving lacrosse on the coast.

The refereeing has been so consistently bad for so long that the game has got completely out of control and become a brawl. That the team can and will play a good clean game when properly refereed was fully demonstrated when the Shamrocks played Peterborough for the Mann Cup last year when we had Mr. Joe Murphy as referee. He called the game, was fair and just to both teams and would stand no nonsense from either side and we had good clean lacrosse which was a pleasure and a joy to watch.

You have only to be a regular fan, as my husband and I have been for the last five years, to realize that the falling off of the gate is not that people are not interested in the sport, but that they are utterly fed up with the inconsistency and biased refereeing.

You did the only thing you could do, Whitey, to save our boys from further unnecessary injury and we are all right behind you.

Talk for Simpletons

The number one necessity for an election is to oust the Social Credit monopoly.

Mr. Bennett says he is not campaigning, that he is staying here to tend to the people's business. Having just returned from a tour of his do-as-I-say-So-creds that is talk for simpletons. How simple are we voters of British Columbia?

M. B.

Stiff Sentence

I would appreciate you allowing me a space in your paper regarding a news item which appeared in Saturday's Times. The item I refer to is the severe sentence of one year's imprisonment for two young sailors accused of vandalism. In the first place one error was made in the age of one of the boys, who is 21 years of age, not 24 years as printed in your paper.

Everyone knows that there has been far too much of this type of vandalism going on, and of course expects the culprits to be punished.

However, I know that there are many more citizens who agree that the sentence in this case is much too severe. Surely a fine would have been sufficient, especially as the other four culprits have not come forward, or the police have not been able to trace them, at least so your paper said.

It looks as if those two boys are taking the "rap" for the unknown culprits also. After all the boys are in the

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Operating or Advising?

ALTHOUGH the London conference wound up with two proposals, the Indian and the American, on the most important question of all the conference was unanimous. This is that the Suez Canal is an international public utility in which the nations that use the canal have legal and moral rights. The canal is not like the Mississippi River or the Volga River, a waterway within the exclusive jurisdiction of the countries through which it runs.

The United States, India, Soviet Russia can do anything they like with their national waterways, can decide who may use them, can close them to navigation, can charge tolls and, when they choose, can, if they prefer, divert their waters.

Unquestionable Rights

No nation at the London conference countenanced the notion that Egyptian sovereignty meant that Col. Nasser has any such exclusive rights.

On this crucial point Mr. Shepilov as well as Mr. Krishna Menon made it quite plain that they as users of the canal believe they have an indubitable right to free and equal navigation at reasonable rates under efficient operating conditions—and that these rights should be guaranteed by modernizing the conventions of 1888.

Lippmann

Mr. Dulles has been making a good case. But he might have strengthened it had he dwelt more emphatically on the unanimity of the powers on this fundamental question of principle.

The issue between the 18 nations who approve the Dulles proposals and the four nations, if we may count in the Soviet Union, who approve the Krishna Menon proposals, is this: Shall the canal be operated by the Egyptians, with an international advisory board to watch them, subject to rules laid down in an international treaty? Or, shall the canal be run by an international operating board under the rules laid down in the treaty?

Official Operator

The Indian argument is that Col. Nasser, because of Arab feeling, must be allowed to be the official operator, though he may be hedged in by a new treaty and watched over by an international advisory board.

The western argument is that Col. Nasser cannot be trusted to operate the canal efficiently and fairly, and that the key necessity is international operation. The Western argument may very well be right. But it has a fatal weakness. It is a proposal to act on suspicion before Col. Nasser has violated the rights of the users. He has not in fact done that except in the case of Israeli ships. But this case is an awkward one for Great Britain and France inasmuch as the Israeli ships were stopped while the old Suez Company was operating the canal.

The Israeli ships apart, and they are apart by the tacit consent of the Western governments, Col. Nasser is merely under suspicion and has not been convicted. It would follow, it seems to me, that there are in this affair two bridges to cross, and the second one cannot be crossed until after the first.

The first bridge is to obtain worldwide agreement on an international treaty which sets down clearly the rights of the users, and this is of critical importance—sets up or recognizes an efficient tribunal to which complaints can be carried.

Second Bridge

The second bridge is the action to be taken if Col. Nasser begins to do what the West believes he will do—to mismanage the canal, to exploit it, to profiteer, and to use it for political blackmail.

If the two bridges are to be crossed in the same negotiations, it will have to be, it would appear, by developing a compromise between the Indian proposal for an advisory board and the 18-nation proposal for an operating board. That should not be beyond the wit of men. For the line between advising and operating is not sharp and absolute.

In any event, the problem of Col. Nasser and of the Pan-Arab movement will remain regardless of the technical devices which have to do with the operation of the canal.

Cricket on the Streets

LONDON — With the gardens so wet from this waterlogged summer we're having that the youngsters can't play out on the back lawn, they have a game of cricket in progress on the street outside the window as I write. This is traditional in England—boys playing cricket on the street with a lamp post as a wicket.

It is the schoolboy's dream that during such a game one of the big nobbs of cricket will pass, will be struck by his ability and snap him up for one of the major teams.

And—just like that—the dream of the under-study getting his chance through the leading lady spraining her ankle—it has happened.

The great Dennis Compton got his start playing against one of the lamp posts on the street of the London suburb of Hendon.

YOUR HEALTH

Breathing Too Fast

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation.

There are many highly nervous persons who, after some fright or outburst of anger, will start breathing rapidly in a hysterical way. Some will pant like a dog. Often a doctor is summoned in great haste, but usually, by the time he arrives, the patient is quiet, but much frightened by the peculiar symptoms that have come because of the rapid breathing. The family will think the patient had a heart attack, but he did not.

Dr. Alvarez

Usually the person feels faint and giddy, and for a few minutes he may be a little fuzzy in his thinking. He may feel unreal, and he may black out. He may feel numbness of the body and much tingling around the mouth, with perhaps a coldness of the hands and of the lips. There may be spasm of the muscles of the hands, with twitching movements, and there may be a sense of tightness in the chest and a desire to yawn. There may be palpitations, a rapid heart or skipping beats, and perhaps some transitory pains in the chest. The mouth may get dry, there may be a feeling of a lump in the neck and the abdomen may bloat. The patient may belch and pass much gas from the bowel. He may be anxious, tense, and apprehensive. For a while after a spell he may feel tired and weak or exhausted.

NO NEED FOR FEAR

Some of the symptoms of one of these spells are due to the washing of much carbon dioxide (the gas in soda water) out of the blood. Often, if the physician sharply orders the patient to stop the panting, he will. Then, as the breathing becomes normal the chemical composition of the blood will return to normal, and the symptoms of lack of carbon dioxide will go away. The family must never get frightened at sight of such a spell because it is hysterical in nature; it is not due to any serious disease, and the patient will not die.

If a woman gets these spells often, and wants to help herself, she can either make herself quit or she can keep a paper bag handy and breathe in and out of this with the upper end held tightly around her mouth and nose. In this way she will not lose carbon dioxide but will breathe it back in again.

In these cases, when the family knows that the spells are nervous in origin and harmless, they will pay little attention to the

But I felt a severe reprimand was necessary, so I told them: "You shouldn't have laughed. That was your big mistake. If you happen to hit a passer-by, be very considerate. If you laugh at them, they'll just get mad."

The point is that kids have got to play somewhere and, if their holidays coincide with wet weather, a street with very little traffic on it looks tempting to them as a playground.

I'm surprised that passers-by don't come in for more trouble from the 30 youngsters on this street. They either lack the ingenuity of kids when I was a boy—or perhaps they're better behaved. We didn't wait for a chance hit with a tennis ball to dislodge somebody's hat.

We used to stretch black thread across the sidewalk from a telephone pole at just above head height, and there was many a bewildered man coming home at dusk picking his hat up and wondering why on earth it suddenly shot off his head.

Another one was to wrap up a neat parcel (of rubbish) and lay this on the sidewalk. When someone stooped to pick it up—whisk! it would shoot out of sight behind the hedge, yanked by kids who had it on a length of string.

But our greatest success was always with the coins behind the hedge. We used to hide there with a brick and some coins and, as someone passed, we'd clank the coins on the brick. There is no one alive who doesn't react to the sound of having dropped some money and—depending on how parsimonious they were—they would spend all sorts of time searching the sidewalk and the gutters for the money they'd lost.

panting. Usually, then the woman will soon quit because a hysterical spell without an anxious audience is no fun.

CAN ONE OVERCOME HEREDITY?

Whenever I happen to say that nervous troubles can be inherited, a number of good people write to scold me roundly for having discouraged everyone. They think I said that no one can escape or overcome the bad effects of heredity, or that hereditary troubles are incurable. Actually, I never wrote any such stupid thing and will never write any such thing. For instance: People write angrily because I said stuttering sometimes runs through a family. I could have said that in the family of one of my patients, stuttering has afflicted six close relatives. How then can there be any question that sometimes a tendency to the impediment is inherited. Note that I said a tendency can sometimes be inherited. People should know, also, that in some families in which one or two members stutter others have ties (convulsive movements of their face or shoulders) and others have poor control of several of their muscles.

The good people who wrote me angrily were upset because they read into what I said something that was not there. They got the idea so universally held today that simply because a mental or psychic trait is inherited, nothing can be done about it. As I wrote some of my correspondents, I stuttered a bit when I was a child, but my mother soon trained me out of it, and ever since I have had no difficulty in speaking. I inherited from one of my grandmothers a strong temper but when I was about 20 I decided I didn't want it any more, and so I quickly trained myself to be so peaceful that today I rarely explode, and then only under great provocation.

HUNG ON GRIMLY

The other day I had in the office a lovely old general practitioner of 75, who told me that his mother had been insane. He had inherited her tendency to depression and it had hounded him all his days. But, as he said, "I have hung onto my sanity like grim death, and as you see, today I am still sane."

When people accuse me of having said that a hereditary disease is not curable I remind them that diabetes and pernicious anemia are usually hereditary in their origin and yet no one any longer needs to die of them.

Hence I beg you readers, when I mention heredity as the cause for some nervous disease do not jump to the conclusion that I am saying that it is incurable and hopeless, and that nothing can be done for it.

Advance Work, Key In Making New Lawn

The time to do something about lawn problems is before the lawn is made, although most of us just sow the seed and hope for the best.

Weeds, of course, are the biggest problem before the lawn is fully established. Annual weeds are not too difficult because they are eventually crowded out, but the perennial types must be eradicated before the seed is sown.

Jack

Small pieces of bindweed (convolvulus) and couch grass roots left in the area will cause many a headache later. Weed sprays for bindweed and digging for couch grass seem the only solution.

Brown spots often develop when a fairly large stone has been left some 12 to 18 inches below the surface. It collects heat and dries the surrounding soil, or, if near the surface, burns the tender grass roots. Wet spots encourage moss at the expense of grass. Drainage is very important and quite expensive to correct after the lawn is growing.

Fair Prizes Largest Ever; Directors Seek Class B Status

Saanichton fair to be staged Saturday and Monday at the agricultural hall and grounds in Saanichton shows promise of being the biggest of all time there according to officials.

The prize list in utility agricultural sections must exceed $3,000 this year, as it has in the past two years, in order that it can be recognized as a Class B fair and thus become eligible for increased government assistance.

Actually the total prize money to be paid out will be close to $5,000, but that sum will include prizes offered in all events and classes.

"Entries are nearing last year's total," said Arthur C. Howe, secretary, "and we expect many more."

Attendance is expected to top the 10,000 registered last year.

MORE SPACE

Additional space has been leased for concessions, and only last week two buildings were moved to the grounds from Patricia Bay Airport to give extra accommodation.

Each measures about 25 by 50 feet, and they will be used for the rabbit show and commercial exhibits.

Open both Saturday and Monday, the fair will get under way Saturday at 10 a.m. with 4-H Club competitive classes, to be followed by the western saddle horse competitions starting at 1:30 p.m.

Monday will be the big day of the fair, with highland dance make the official opening of the fair, more formally known as the "88th Annual Exhibition of North and South Saanich Agricultural Society."

President of the society is Albert Doney. With him on the executive are Frank Butler, first vice-president; G. F. Aitken, second vice-president; S. G. Stoddart, treasurer, and Mr. Howe.

ISLAND DIGEST

Village Clerk Quits At Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — Village commissioners Tuesday accepted the resignation of Village Clerk A. D. Corker after he told them his work has become too onerous since expansion of the village.

The commission agreed to pay $372 to the volunteer fire brigade for 248 hours spent at the old village garbage dump this year. It was told that fire repeatedly has broken out in the dump although covered in since the opening of a new dumping ground.

Efforts to purchase an area at Willow Point for an airplane landing strip have been unsuccessful, the commissioners were told, but the owners, Elk River

Timber Company, might be disposed to rent the site.

Ratepayers have approved a $92,000 by-law for improvements to the village water system that will include construction of a water tower and pumping station, and replacement of certain four-inch mains.

Costs will be met out of water system revenue, and will cause no increase in taxes.

Re-Zoning Voted For Store Centre At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—City council has approved the application of W. H. Malkin Ltd. to have a city block rezoned for the construction of a 10-store shopping centre to cost close to $600,000. The area is that bounded by 10th and 11th Avenues and Bute and Redford Streets. The company hopes to feature sale of foods, drugs, hardware, furniture, clothing, jewelry and shoes, and provide space for a bank.

Anglo-Canadian Uranium Deal Nears Completion

OTTAWA (CP) — Signing of a multi-million-dollar contract for the sale of Canadian uranium to the United Kingdom is expected to be announced shortly, it was learned Wednesday.

Final details of the contract are being discussed by William Strath and James A. Nichol of the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority and William J. Bennett, president of Canada's Crown-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd.

Ladore Plant Ready For Mid-Fall Start

CAMPBELL RIVER—Power production is expected to begin at the first unit of the B.C. Power Commission's Ladore Falls plant by mid-fall, it has been announced by the commission.

Plans call for eventual installation of three 35,000-horsepower generators. The second will go into operation toward the end of the year, and the third when demand arises.

Total cost of the project will be $10,000,000. Ladore dam, when built, raised the level of Lower Campbell Lake by 50 feet to provide water storage for the John Hart powerhouse. A 22-foot tunnel will carry water 1,700 feet from the dam to the new power plant, after which it will continue down Campbell River to the John Hart reservoir.

A four-mile transmission line has been built to carry power to the main Vancouver Island transmission system.

Do you cough and wheeze with Chronic Bronchitis?

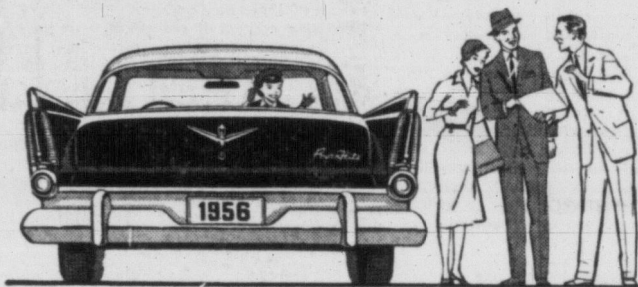

Are you kept awake cough, cough, coughing, wheezing and gasping for breath. Then here is good news. Mr. P. Poulton, 57 Marlborough Ave., Toronto writes: "For many years I suffered terribly from chronic bronchitis—prolonged bouts of coughing and wheezing at night. Sometimes my sides were so sore from the exertion that I felt as if I'd been beaten. It was a wonderful day when I tried Templeton's RAZ-MAH. I was able to sleep peacefully instead of sitting up for hours gasping and coughing. And no more soreness in my sides—thanks to RAZ-MAH! Fall Sewer Vote Set for Saanich

Ratepayers to Decide in October On Finishing Deficit-Hit Project

Saanich will submit to ratepayers in October an $850,000 money-by-law to complete its sewage program. Council sitting in committee Wednesday approved the borrowing of $850,000 to complete the project halted last October due to a deficit.

It also recommended that the by-law be prepared as soon as possible.

Coun. Leslie Passmore, chairman of the sewage and drainage committee, recommended the by-law be prepared and submitted to the ratepayers before the December elections to prevent the "sewage program from becoming a political football."

Passage of the by-law will require a 60 per cent majority. The new by-law, if approved by ratepayers, will raise the sewage rates in the sewage district by $7.75 for a minimum 50-foot lot, and $11.63 for lots 75 feet and over.

This means the rate for a 50-foot lot will be increased from the present $15 to $22.75, and for a 75-foot lot from $22.50 to $34.88.

The rates are not considered high compared to sewage rates in other cities in Canada. In addition, most sewage systems in other districts charge an extra maintenance charge of $20 a year.

Saanich only charges $5 for maintenance, which is believed

'BLEACHED' FROG TRAPPED IN WALL CONTINUED CROAK

Strange are the ways of nature—so thinks Tom Dalzell, West Saanich Road.

For a year Mr. Dalzell listened patiently to a frog croaking "gentle music" through the wall of his living room.

He finally loosened a light fixture and found between the partition a small frog, whitish in color. He released the amphibian outside.

Today, the frog was back in his place between the walls, croaking as usual.

Downtown Underground Wiring Starts in October

Shallow trenches will be dug along streets in 21 blocks of downtown Victoria starting in October as the B.C. Electric launches its $2,225,000 underground wiring project. Company officials said tenders will be called for the work at an early date.

Two winters are expected to be taken up with digging of ducts, and actual wiring transfer will not begin before 1959 when most poles and overhead wiring will begin to disappear from the downtown area. Work this winter will be confined to Blanshard between Herald and Burdett, including side streets between Blanshard and Douglas. But Douglas street itself will not be started this year.

Complete area to be modernized over the four-year period is bounded by Belleville, Blanshard, Herald and Government.

Ducts will be at least 30 inches below street level and in some places as deep as nine or ten feet. Underground vaults will be installed for transformers.

The city, working in conjunction with the BCE will do a minimum of work this year. Full cost of city participation is expected to amount to $220,000.

Storm Damages Ontario Crops

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Thunderstorms and hail in western Ontario late Tuesday were followed by reports of extensive damage to crops of tobacco, grains and corn, soybeans and tomatoes. Insurance agents had received more than 100 reports of tobacco damage, with some crops a total loss.

'GLAMOR WAGON' NEWEST HOSPITAL THERAPY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A "beauty shop on wheels" is now available for patients at Louisville's Jewish hospital.

The service, begun Wednesday is aimed at boosting morale, thereby hastening recovery.

Two beauticians wheel around a "glamor wagon" with facilities for giving shampoos, scalp treatments, facial massages and manicures.

The rolling cabinet includes a dryer and its own compartment. It also has a cap, gown and mask for use in the maternity ward.

TAKE SHELL SAFE DRIVING QUIZ NO. 14
FOR A SAFER LABOR DAY TRIP

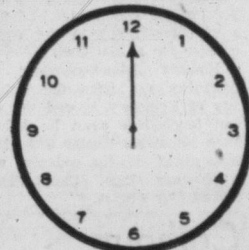

How much time does "speed-cheating" really save?

The "speed-cheater" breaks rules, is always in a hurry. Example: a 12-mile trip to the golf course, ballgame or theater normally takes 20 minutes.

On the clocks, indicate the time you think a "speed-cheater" saves in each situation shown. Compare your estimate with the "Answers" below.

TOTAL: Add up on this clock the total time you think the "speed-cheater" saved in the four situations above.

Take it easy: save a life—not a minute!

ANSWERS — You'll have saved a total of 3½ minutes at most—less time than it takes a frousome to tee off. For example:

- By coming to a full stop and then starting again you will add less than 30 seconds to your traveling time.
- Any hill is too short for you to gain anything by passing recklessly. But in this case, let's grant that you might save about a minute and a half at most.
- Very few traffic lights hold the red for longer than 60 seconds. That's the most you can save by jumping through on yellow.
- Covering a mile at 70 m.p.h. rather than at 40 will save you about a half minute.

TOTAL SAVING on your 20-minute trip: 3½ minutes. Is it worth it?

There is no charge for Safety—it's free! When you drive, safety costs you nothing. All you have to do is be patient and courteous. Don't cut in. Don't insist on the right of way. Consider your fellow drivers. Shell urges you to share the road... enjoy the great network of Canadian highways... and come home safely.

Low Pay Blamed For Queen's Staff Quitting Jobs

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth's staff at Buckingham Palace is quitting because of low wages, a London newspaper reports.

The Sunday Express said the palace seldom pays above the minimum wages, although the royal family is one of the richest in the country. It said chauffeurs and porters receive about $20 a week and maids $8.40 as a starting wage.

THE ROCKS THROUGH THE YEARS--FROM START TO WALKOUT

The Victoria Shamrock story, since the club first started in the Inter-city Lacrosse League, has been filled with excitement, achievement, thrills and faithful fan support. It started back in 1950, when the Irish came out of the dusty confines of Steven-

... out the window

IT'S MY VIEW BY Bill Walker

Notes from a dirty cuff:
The B.C. Lions got their come-uppance at Empire Stadium Monday. And a record crowd of 30,374 saw them get it. It was fitting that the first defeat had to come from the Grey Cup champs; for that's what champs are for—to slow such upstarts down. And a better team the Lions should be because of it.

There is no doubt that the Lions were rather fortunate in their first two games, just as there is no doubt that "attack" may be the club's problem this season.

On Monday night, for example, they managed to contain the Eskimos fairly well; at least it wasn't until late in the final quarter that defeat became obvious.

But the fact that the Lions failed to make good on their scoring opportunities early in that contest may be the tip-off on the future.

The Lions haven't got what could be described as a productive club, because as yet they haven't got the man that can toss those crucial touchdown passes.

Paul Cameron may turn out to be the answer to the problem.

Certainly he is a triple-threat back, and once he becomes more acclimatized to the game, still relatively new to him, he could be the spark that appears to be needed.

Tony Teresa is exciting enough, but erratic, which may make him exciting; but off Cameron's showing in two games, Paul could take the first string signal job away from Tony.

And on his ability may rest the Lions' chances for survival. They still need that take-charge guy in the backfield—a la Parker. Otherwise, they are a much better-balanced club than they were last year.

Okay, who do you like for your Inter-city Lacrosse League rookie of the year? The list came in this week and heading the point parade of first-year men was husky Bert Bertoia of the Irish. Undoubtedly the most experienced rookie in the ICLL, Bertoia closed with a rush for 68 points to top Pils' Bill Barbour by eight. The choice lies between these two and Rocks' Donny Hamilton, their capable substitute goalkeeper.

From this corner the vote goes for Barbour—a tremendous performer when he has a mind to be, and a 50-goal man in his first senior season.

In the same post was the selection form for the Inter-city League's top goalie, not necessarily based on the league's percentage leading the season.

We like Geordy Johnston, always have, as the Irish goalie, but the feeling is strong not to ignore that Stan Joseph was one of those mainly instrumental in leading the Pils to a second-place finish. Before the Pils got Joseph back in harness they were a run-of-the-mill club. Stan made the difference between a second and third-place finish; thus he gets our vote.

Library Section—Maybe you haven't caught the latest issue of Sport Magazine, but if you're a ball fan you should... the batters have their say about what the pitchers are throwing the majors, mainly the "spitters"... Here are the alleged leaders in that department—Lew Burdette, Max Surkont, Jim Wilson.

In all 14 pitchers are named, and the batters even tell "how" the "wet ball" is used.

STRICTLY PERSONAL—The fellow we feel for in the current lacrosse hassle is NORM SHEARING of B.C. Cement... here's a real sports fan, and any reflection on the Irish for their recent walk-out should not include Norm, ambassador-at-large for the sponsoring firm... Too, 500 kids fished for free and a multitude of prizes last Sunday in the junior salmon derby through the courtesy of B.C. Cement, and Norm... you just can't ignore things like that... And a word of thanks from appreciative angling parents wouldn't go amiss.

Decision on the imports was somewhat delayed Wednesday while Stampedeers conferred with B.C. Lions regarding the status of Ron Clinkscales, speedy halfback who was cut by the Vancouver squad.

The Stampedeers would like to have Clinkscales in their lineup but he is unavailable because the Vancouver club has not put him on waivers.

Meanwhile Stampedeers are unable to talk to Clinkscales, who is in Calgary, until Lions give the green light. Otherwise they will be guilty of tampering and subject to a fine.

Tiger Cats Humble Argonauts

Wirkowski Sparks Hamilton Attack

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, with some of the biggest names in Canadian football, are in deep trouble.

They ran into grief Wednesday night as they dropped a humiliating 18-0 decision to Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four football opener here.

That was bad for a team expected to be a powerful threat this season. But even worse was an injury to second-string quarterback Gerry Doucette.

Doucette, counted on by Argos to keep them going during the convalescence of ace Tom Dubinski, hurt his left shoulder in the first quarter. Doucette, who performed notably against Montreal Alouettes last Saturday, appeared briefly in the second quarter but gave way to third-stringer John Stephens.

It was not known how serious Doucette's injury is; nor how long he will be unable to quarterback.

Stephens and the entire Argonaut team were inept against the fired-up Tics, who showed a tremendous improvement after their 29-21 setback by Ottawa Rough Riders last Wednesday.

A crowd of 23,801, largest here since Argos' 1952 Grey Cup winning season, sat through a dreary rain to watch the hard-charging Tics dominate play. The customers didn't see much of the highly-publicized Ronnie Knox but they got a good look at quarterback Nobby Wirkowski, Toronto castoff who led the Hamilton offense.

Wirkowski, threatened with unemployment when the 21-year-old Knox signed with Tics about two weeks ago, was great. He completed 10 of 18 pass attempts and moved Tics 72 yards in eight plays—from the kick-off to a windup 16-yard touchdown pass to Ron Howell.

This gave Tiger-Cats a 7-0 lead. They added two singles and their second touchdown in the second quarter for a 14-0 lead.

Howard Schneiderberger, all-American end from the University of Kentucky, scored the second touchdown when he fell on Pete Neuman's fumble after Neuman racked into the end zone with a blocked kick. Cam Fraser kicked four singles.

Calhoun Surprised By Webb

CHICAGO (AP)—Spider Webb, an ex-Olympic boxer, handed favored Rory Calhoun of New York his first defeat in 24 bouts on a unanimous decision in a thrilling 10-round middleweight bout at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Webb, 24, from Chicago, took the best shots of the plodding Calhoun, who blew an apparent chance for a third-round knockout.

In the third round of the televised bout, Calhoun, who had almost a six-pound weight advantage, slugged Webb into the corner with a tremendous right to the jaw.

Thinking Webb would sink to the floor off the ropes, Calhoun turned and walked away. But Webb bounced right back and weathered the round which ended with both fighters swinging viciously after the bell.

Referee Joe White voted for Webb, a 9-to-5 underdog, 46-44. Judge Howard Walsh called it for Webb by a 46-45 margin.

The other judge, Louis Caparelli, voted for Webb, 47-45.

MICKEY ROLLS ON, BUT TASK TOUGHENS

NEW YORK (UP)—Mickey Mantle, beginning to "feel the pinch" of Babe Ruth's sensational September spurt in 1927, needs three home runs in the Yankees' next six games to stay even with the Bambino's record pace.

Mantle hit his 46th homer in the Yankees' 128th game Wednesday but actually lost ground to Ruth. Mickey started Wednesday's game five games ahead of the Babe and came out of it only four games ahead. This is because Ruth hit two homers in the Yankees' 132nd game in 1927.

It'll be disastrous for Mickey if he's shut out in those six games because he'll then have to hit 14 in the Yankees' last 20 games to tie the mark.

The young Canadian player, second-seeded foreign entry, went down in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, at the hands of Barbara Benigni, of San Francisco.

PAYOFF ON PERSEVERANCE

Johnny Near Goal

NEW YORK (UP)—After an estimated 22,000 miles on horseback, wizened Johnny Longden within a few days will reach his greatest goal in 30 years of race riding.

It's been a long, long road for the shrill-voiced little man. But now, at 45, only seven more winners separate him from the all-time victory mark of 4,870 posted by Sir Gordon Richards before the Englishman retired in 1954.

Johnny, who already has posted 217 victories this year for a total of 4,863, is a dead cinch.

All of which is a payoff on perseverance for the tiny English-born jockey who at 15 began riding Roman races at the fairs of western Canada to escape the gritty monotony of working in the mines.

Johnny's start was anything but sensational and several times he was advised to hang up his borrowed tack.

Two lonesome and off-hungry years passed before the youngster, whose family migrated to Canada when he was two years old, was able to score with his first winner. In his first four years he managed a total of only 110 winners.

Not very promising for a man who eventually was the nation's leading winner three times. But Johnny ever has

Spitter Spatter Sputters on Lew

Braves' Ace Accused of 'Wet Ball'

By the Associated Press

"Spit," the word Ted Williams hoisted out of the gutter into $5,000 headlines, now becomes a controversy in the already hectic National League pennant race.

Does Lew Burdette use it, or doesn't he while pitching Milwaukee Braves into championship contention?

The second-place Brooklyn Dodgers, Cincinnati's third-place Reds and the fourth-running St. Louis Cardinals have insisted all along that the big righthander throws the outlawed "spitter."

Now Pittsburgh Pirates have taken up the cry.

Manager Bobby Bragan, pitcher Dick Hall and infielder Dick Cole bellowed so loud and long in demands that the umpires take repeated looks at the ball that they were thrown off the bench and out of Wednesday night's game. The umpires did investigate the ball, several times, but kept it in play; Burdette, losing his shutout in the ninth after a 33-minute rain delay, won his 17th, 4-1, on Joe Adcock's tie-breaking three-run homer.

Burdette himself denies the "spitter" charge. But if he does use it and should be caught at it, he would face an automatic suspension for 10 days.

At the moment, the Braves are 1½ games ahead of the Dodgers, who disposed of the Chicago Cubs 11-4. Cincinnati is three games back after fighting off New York Giants 4-3.

Philadelphia and Robin Roberts outlasted the Cardinals 8-6 in the other NL game.

16 FOR MICKEY

In the American, Mickey Mantle made up for a three-run error with his 46th home run and a game-winning, ninth-inning single as New York Yankees defeated Kansas City 7-6. Second-place Cleveland stayed eight games back with a 3-2 decision over Baltimore. Chicago White Sox defeated Washington 9-7 and Boston Red Sox beat Detroit 4-2.

Catcher Roy Campanella smashed across five runs, including a three-run homer—his 16th—to lead Brooklyn's victory over the Cubs. Carl Erskine won his 12th, tottering through an 11-hitter that included homers by Don Hoak and Gene Baker. Duke Snider busted his 37th for the Brooks, upping his NL lead. Rookie Don Kaiser, shelled in the first, was the loser.

INDOMITABLE SPIRIT

Babe's 'Grit' Amazes Doctor

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, who has received the acclaim of sports fans the world over, today was paid tribute by her doctor.

In an unusual medical bulletin issued at John Sealy Hospital, the Babe was praised for "her indomitable grit." It went on to explain that she remained the "same" in her battle with cancer.

The Babe was "entirely comfortable," the report said. That was affirmed by her husband George, who spends practically all of his time at her bedside. Zaharias said his wife spent a "comfortable" night and that her spirits are "wonderful."

The out-of-the-ordinary medical bulletin told a heart-warming story of how the frail, but smiling Babe was making out in her fight against cancer.

"Her grit is amazing," the report said. "The difficulty she has been through this past year would lead the most resolute soul to give up. With the trials of the past month (two operations) even the bravest would give up. But not so the Babe. She has shown that not only her physique has been one of the greatest of all times, but she is also one of the world's indomitable spirits."

The State of California has appropriated $5,000,000 for preparing the locals for the winter games.

In the second main, Logger Jackson meets Pat Meehan, while Ken Kenneth and Leo Numa tangle in the special event.

By BERT BELL

Commissioner of the National Football League
(Written for the United Press)

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Professional football as played in the National Football League is a rough, highly aggressive game, but it isn't a dirty game.

The teams are so evenly matched in manpower and ability and so close to each other in their respective conferences through most of the season that the competition is bound to produce a game in which aggressiveness, individually and collectively, is paramount to success.

We have what we believe to be the most competent officials in football. They are men of considerable experience not only in football but in other walks of life. They know the rules and how to enforce them.

They would not stand for dirty football any more than I would stand for it. If they should see any indication of it, they would quickly respond.

Rough, Yes, But Not Dirty

Yet the men who are on top of the play, we have five officials in every game, called relatively few disqualifications and none of these were for dirty football, during the 72 games of the 1955 season in which at least 300 players participated each week.

If the game is dirty, as some carping critics allege, isn't it natural to expect that the number of players sent off the field for conduct detrimental to the game would be much greater?

Football is a rough game. Anyone who ever played it knows that. It is a body contact sport that demands give and take within the rules.

I played football in prep school and college and I know that it was rough. I wasn't as big as most of those I played against but I never found a player to be deliberately dirty.

New Rule Should End Piling On

We make every effort to protect the players and this year, to prevent occasional flareups by players brought about by crawling and subsequent piling on, the league has adopted a rule that reads as follows:

"When the ball carrier is contacted by a defensive player in the open, and/or when coming through the line of scrimmage, and he touches the ground with any part of his body except his hands or feet, the ball is dead at the spot where the ball touches the ground, or that part of the runner's body which holds the ball touches the ground, and/or where the ball is when the whistle is blown."

I believe this is a great rule.

The runner can still get up and run if he slips to the ground. In the past, when the man went down from a tackle, the defence wasn't sure whether he'd get up and run again and probably the runner himself wouldn't know what to do. So this brought in additional tackling and body blocking by the defence so that the ball carrier could not get up and run.

When a player joins the National Football League, he has behind him from four to eight years of football in school and college. On the whole, he has had excellent coaching and good training. He is ready for professional football. But if he lacks the spark that lights the spirit of aggressiveness, he will not be among the players who start the regular season.

BEWITCHIN' COWITCHIN'

Into Cowichan Lake we continued our ride. And had a nice dinner at the "Riverside." We sprawled on the lawn in Cape Cod chairs. And felt like a couple of millionaires. This "Village" I like, it's all so clean. With the friendliest people I've ever seen. The speed-boat we had, "sea-horsed" us along. I never knew, this Lake was so long. Our boat like a car, with windshield & wheel. And it didn't take long to get the feel. And Oh... it was nice, the bow-wave, a shower. The exhaust under-water, with 30 horse-power. Wild pigeons flew up as we slowed by the shore. And pink water-lilies grew there galore. We caught a nice trout, and we saw an otter. Which fascinated Trudie, our youngest daughter. Who is a house guest of friends up here. Who have water-skis & a tame deer. Yes... I like this Lake, & the water's so warm. Even the G.F. could dip her form. Without gasping for breath, & shouting help. 'Cause there isn't such stuff as frightening kelp. My vacation is over, it's time to pack it. And head for home and the FURNITURE RACKET.

Italy Plans Gala Show For '60 Olympic Games

ROME (AP)—Italy plans to make the 1960 summer Olympics at Rome the greatest sports spectacle in history, dwarfing the forthcoming Melbourne Games and its predecessors.

Even before the Melbourne Olympics, and with four years to go until the Rome games, the Italian Olympic committee has completed a 100,000-seat Olympic stadium, and allocated $18,000,000 to go on from there.

Italy plans to make full use of historic Rome as a backdrop. The Colosseum and the chariot-racers Circus Maximus will return to their original role of sports stadiums.

There will be two new sports palaces, a swimming stadium with three pools, a velodrome with a cycling track and two Olympic villages—one for men and one for women, on opposite sides of the Tiber.

ROME Olympic installations will be centred in two areas. One is around the Olympic stadium, about 2 1/2 miles north of the centre of the city. The other is an exhibition ground south of the city, built by Mussolini for a world fair that was never held because of the war.

Rowing and canoe races will be held in the extinct volcanic crater lake of Castel Gandolfo, about 30 miles from Rome, where Pope Pius X died during the summer months.

Sailing races will be staged in the Bay of Naples, scene of many international regattas.

DOMINION CHAMPS NAMED

Dramatic Finish To Bowling Finals

VANCOUVER—Second annual Canadian lawn bowling championships ended here on a brilliant Wednesday as winners were named in all three divisions.

Jack Linford, of Lachine, Que., set the stage with a dramatic, come-from-behind victory over Ernest Munro, St. James, Manitoba, in the singles final, scoring four shots on the 24th end of the fifth and final game to win 21-13.

It was declared as one of the finest singles matches ever seen in Vancouver.

Dr. Charles Brereton, Toronto, finished with the same mark as Linford, four wins and one loss, but Linford took the title with a surplus of 32 shots as against Brereton's 16.

Bowling splendidly throughout the tournament, the Vancouver duo of George Davies and Walter Back won the doubles by having a 28-shot surplus as against the

AN ACCELERATE MAYBE?

He May Be Archie at Home... But Has He Been Numberized?

By PETE LOUDON
It's old news that teachers are returning to school a day ahead of students.

If anyone wonders what teachers can do at a school hereof pupils, a bulletin issued today by the school board provides all the answers.

It also proves that a teacher today needs abilities beyond those called for in coping with reading, writing and arithmetic.

A military genius might be handy; there will be discussions on "platooning and departmentalization." (An educationist wrote that word, not us.)

There will be a supply of "data about ability groupings, mixed grades, incompletes, accelerates, very slow learners, etc." (He might be Archie at home, but at school he's an accelerate.)

Teachers with a spare moment can be allocated to playground supervision, co-curricular activities or safety patrol organization.

Or before the thundering herd arrives, Miss Goodapple can concentrate on "... analyzing information, where supplied, on ability and achievement of incoming students to assist in organizing teaching groups."

Teacher doesn't have to wait on the kids either to plaster windows with orange pumpkins. Order No. D3 says, "Decorate classrooms with suitable visual aids."

There will be a period for

"individualization of instruction in primary division," and principals will give attention to "documentation of new appointees."

When the classes arrive on Wednesday, teacher no doubt will be prepared to numberize them, assign them to their desks, de-applize the little accelerates, chastize the decelerates and collapse.

FINALS TONIGHT AT 8

Showboat Winners Get $100 in Prizes

Scrip worth $100 will be awarded as first prize in finals of a talent contest on the Beaver Lake showboat tonight at 8. The prize will be awarded by Mr. and Mrs. Wilf Sadler of Beaver Lake Lakeside Tea-rooms. Second prize of a HBC coat will be awarded by the Hudson's Bay Company, sponsors of the show.

Finalists are Margaret McGee, 13, vocalist; Keith Donaldson, 12, saxophone and clarinet; Muriel Berterand, 12, vocalist; Don Eckhardt, 14, trumpet; Ken Ryall, 15, clarinet; Betty Warren, 12, accordion; Alicia Tubman, 14, acrobatic dancer; Bernice Crowther, 10, trumpet; Nadine Stewart, eight, singer and dancer; Barry Finch, nine, accordion.

Emcee will be Andy Anderson. Tonight's performers also will take part in a variety show at Beaver Lake Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

IRKED BY SPEEDING CHARGE

It Cost Him $150 ---But He Won Case

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI)—A textile manufacturer flew 700 miles from South Carolina Wednesday, appeared as his own counsel in municipal court here and won acquittal on charges of speeding on the New Jersey turnpike.

Arthur R. Hutchinson, 53, of York, S.C., also picked up the $15 bond he had left. The round-trip plane fare cost him 10 times as much.

Hutchinson was accused by state trooper Nicholas Polito of driving 75 miles per hour on the 60-m.p.h. superhighway, August 21, but was freed on $15 bond for appearance at Wednesday's hearing.

Hutchinson won his case when he appeared as his own attorney before acting Magistrate Walter Novak and proved his contention he was not exceeding the speed limit.

He presented the court with his turnpike toll ticket which revealed he had entered the turnpike at the Lincoln Tunnel interchange from New York at 7:34 p.m. and was stopped here by the trooper at 8:01 p.m.

Hutchinson pointed out that the distance between the point where he was stopped was 13.5 miles, and that to travel that distance in 27 minutes was not exceeding the 60-m.p.h. speed limit.

Magistrate Novak said the defendant's argument left some doubt in his mind, but that under the law Hutchinson was entitled to the benefit of the doubt. He dismissed the case.

Hutchinson said the 1,400-mile round trip plane fare to and from his South Carolina home cost him about $150. He flew back after his hearing.

W. German 'War Plot' Charged By Communists

MOSCOW (AP)—The central committee of the Communist party has charged that the West German government is plotting a new war to reunite divided Germany.

In a slashing attack against the Bonn government, the Soviet Union's ruling party branded the action of outlawing the Communist party in West Germany as a warlike act.

Victoria City Voters' List Opens Sept. 4

Victoria city voters' list will be open for registration between September 4 and the end of October. Only registered voters may take part in election of aldermen, school board trustees and police commissioners in December.

The list has no connection with the provincial voters' list. Listed automatically are names of all city property-holders, householders who have registered previously and still are qualified by payment of road and poll taxes this year where applicable. These taxes have been cancelled as of Jan. 1, 1957, but are due for 1956.

Also listed automatically are trades licence holders who registered earlier and the same applies to spouses—husbands or wives of property-holders.

AUSTRALIANS FEW

In 1955 Australia's population density was only three persons to a square mile compared with Britain's 541.

INFANTS UNNERVED HER

Six-foot, 250-pound pediatric nurse, Virginia B. Jaspers, 33 (above), has confessed to New Haven, Conn., police of shaking and squeezing three infants who met "sudden deaths" and two others who sustained severe injuries. She said she would give the babies a "good shaking" because "kids sometimes get on my nerves." Miss Jaspers was held in $50,000 bond pending investigation. Since her arrest 15 complaints have been lodged against her by other parents.

Gregory Drops Sturdy Case For All-Out Election Fight

Victoria lawyer and Liberal candidate George Gregory has withdrawn as counsel for David Sturdy in the slander action launched by former lands and forests minister R. E. Sommers.

He took the action at his own request, Mr. Gregory said, so that he could be "free to take to trial before the voters the greatest issue of all in this election, the integrity of the present administration."

Former Vancouver police magistrate Thomas Dohm has taken over as counsel for Mr. Sturdy.

Mr. Gregory's statement: "Acting as I have been as Mr. Sturdy's solicitor since last December, I have been unable to comment as freely as I would have liked on the government's handling of the charges of misconduct made against the former minister of lands and forests. As a member of the legislature, my duty was to demand that a full judicial inquiry be held and to give my reasons for making the demand; as Sturdy's solicitor my duty was to put the civil case foremost.

"Mr. Bennett's calling of a general election before the action had come to trial has made it impossible for me to perform both duties without conflict between them, and I therefore asked Mr. Sturdy to relieve me of the responsibility of acting for him. He has been generous enough to agree that my first duty lay to the people of British Columbia and he has retained Mr. Thomas Dohm to carry on the case for him, thereby leaving me free to take to trial before the voters the greatest issue of all in this election, the integrity of the present administration."

12 Victoria Daily Times
THURSDAY, AUG. 30, 1956

LANGLEY GIRL WINS MISS PNE TITLE

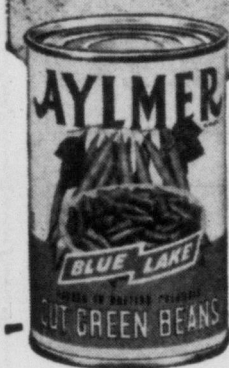

VANCOUVER — Joan Greenwood, 17-year-old Miss Langley, was chosen Miss PNE Wednesday night.

She received a $1,000 cheque and the title of Miss B.C. Lions.

She was crowned by Miss PNE of 1955, Anita Sjöberg, Nanaimo.

Twenty-nine contestants were entered.

CANADIAN Blue Lake GREEN BEANS

One 15-ounce can Aylmer Blue Lake Green Beans
2 to 3 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup sliced almonds
Pinch of basil or marjoram (optional)

Melt butter in frying pan. Add sliced almonds and brown slightly. Add Blue Lake Green Beans. Toss with a fork; add basil or marjoram if desired. Cover and heat thoroughly.

OTHER WAYS TO SERVE BLUE LAKE GREEN BEANS

- in a cream sauce
- au gratin
- topped with buttered crumbs
- creole (chili sauce, oil, onion)
- tossed with bacon bits

THE NEW PACK IS IN from the lush valleys of British Columbia. Hurry and get several cans of these all-Canadian, Blue Lake Green Beans while they last.

AYLMER BLUE LAKE GREEN BEANS

From Canadian Crops by Canadian Cannors

If you mourn the passing of fresh, crisp, green beans every fall—here's good news!

Aylmer has found the solution in a new type of green bean that laughs off the canning process. Aylmer Blue Lake Green Beans are especially grown for their qualities of flavor and texture that remain right through the picking, preparing and sealing in.

Open a can of Aylmer Blue Lake Green Beans... admire those firm, tender bites... As they heat you'll savor the scent of summer... Taste them! You'll be astonished at their young, fresh flavor. Blue Lakes are absolutely stringless and of so green a color, they add brilliance to a meal.

NOW IT'S SHUTTERBUGS INSIDE YOUR TUMMY

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Development by a Canadian of a tiny color camera designed to photograph the interior of the stomach was announced Wednesday at the 26th annual convention of the United States Biological Photographers' Association.

The camera, housed in a thin flexible tube 31 inches long, has its own light source, a tiny shutter and 50 lenses which convey the image to a color plate smaller than a dime in size.

68 Swimmers In Lake Event

Beaver, Elk Lake Marathon
Will Be Run Off in Three Waves

Sixty-eight swimmers, 25 more than started last year, have been signed for the second annual Beaver-Elk lake two-mile swim Saturday.

There are more swimmers than there are boats to accompany them, even though the lake crossing will be conducted in three waves according to age groups.

Persons who would loan boats should contact Saanich police. Some of the entries have not yet provided the swim committee with medical certificates proving qualification for the swim and officials feel the registration could yet be reduced.

All entries in the swim must be at Beaver Lake beach at 8.30 a.m. Saturday. They will be taken by boat to the starting area at Happyland on Elk Lake. Swim times are 9.30 a.m. for the 17-to-19-year-olds, 9.50 a.m. for those 13 and under and 11.30 a.m. for the 15-16-year-old group.

A variety of cups and prizes will be awarded with a special Golden Jubilee Trophy being given to the youth with the fastest crossing time.

A top time of 52 minutes, 35 seconds was scored by winner Doug Dickie, 1024 Pakington, last year's winner. He was 14. He will attempt to beat his own time and retain the lake championship this year.

MAKARIOS DOCUMENTS CALLED FALSE

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP)—The EOKA underground has labelled as forgeries documents published Monday in London which accused the Greek Orthodox prelate, Archbishop Makarios, of being the director of the violence campaign aimed at uniting this British Mediterranean island with Greece.

British authorities replied that they are "convinced" that the documents were genuine.

WIFELY WHAMMY?

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—A Clifton man driving to Middlesex county workhouse to release his wife after he reluctantly paid her $15 traffic fine, crashed into a tree Wednesday night and was injured. Police said the man, Fred Koff, 34, received serious cuts in the face and was taken to Middlesex County Hospital, New Brunswick. His condition was reported good. Koff refused Tuesday night to pay the traffic fine for his wife, Ann, 42, and she was jailed for 15 days, after she said she had no money.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Lawyer Questions Court's Right To Try Jockey for Extortion

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER — Magistrate Gordon Scott said Wednesday he will announce September 6 whether former jockey Calvin Eustace can be tried on a charge of extortion.

At a hearing Wednesday Eustace's lawyer argued the magistrate has no jurisdiction to try the case.

Eustace was sentenced earlier this month to five years for extorting $2,040 from Vancouver businessman Jack Diamond, then released because of a miswording in the charge. He was re-arrested moments after he walked out of Oakalla Prison, this time with a reworded charge.

John K. Macey, Eustace's counsel, argued Wednesday that the conviction, not the conviction on Eustace, was quashed. Therefore the conviction was still in force and Eustace could not be tried again on the same facts.

City prosecutor Stewart MacMoran countered that "What took place was a nullity", therefore Eustace had never been in jeopardy before. He said the present charge should stand and the case should proceed.

SERVICE STATION BURNS
NEW WESTMINSTER—Fire Wednesday destroyed D. L. Motors service station here, destroyed one car and damaged several others.

The blaze, which was fought by a number of off-duty firemen, did not reach the station's gas pumps, however.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH
NELSON — A coroner's inquiry into the death of seven-year-old William Eli Robinson, has returned a verdict of death due to accidental drowning.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson, of the Emerald Mine, near Salmo, the boy was drowned Monday after falling into the pool at the Emerald Mine community centre.

Efforts by life guards, first aid and medical staffs failed to save the life of the boy despite five hours of life-saving efforts.

MINER REPORTED KILLED
PRINCE RUPERT — RCMP said Wednesday that they had received a report from Alice Arm that a miner had been killed.

The police boat ML-15 arrived at Alice Arm at noon Wednesday and Coroner George J. Dawes and Inspector of Mines A. R. C. James left by air for the mining town.

No other details of the mishap were known here.

CELEBRATION PLANS
VANCOUVER — Vancouver's natural harbor will be the focal point for city celebrations during the B.C. centennial in 1958.

'Last Time I Saw Paris' Author Loses 5th Wife
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The wife of author Elliot Paul was granted a divorce Tuesday after she testified he drank to excess and on several occasions struck her.

Nancy Paul, 38, married the writer of The Last Time I Saw Paris in Las Vegas in June, 1953. They separated last June 1. Mrs. Paul said she understood she was Paul's fifth wife.

Jack Diamond, general chairman of the city's celebrations, said Wednesday.

Mr. Diamond said he plans to invite naval vessels from other countries to visit port during the year, all invitations being cleared through Ottawa.

He said the city doesn't plan any lavish parades. Just because the city would receive $160,000 from the province for celebrations was no reason to spend it all on this purpose.

WILL EASE CONGESTION

VANCOUVER — The airport board Wednesday approved allocation of more space for passengers waiting for customs examination at Vancouver International Airport.

The board said it was a temporary measure to ease congestion until the city's new terminal building is completed in about 12 months.

P. W. Bird, immigration chief in Vancouver, told the board the new setup will "enable us to clear a whole plane at once."

SEEK HOSPITAL SPACE

KAMLOOPS — Directors of the Royal Inland Hospital here will again ask the provincial government to make empty bed space at Tranquille Sanatorium available to chronic patients.

Ald. R. V. Wilkinson, hospital director, said similar request was made last fall to Health Minister Eric Martin who said the matter was being given close attention.

The sanatorium, nine miles from here, was reported to have almost 150 empty beds. The sanatorium normally accommodates more than 300.

'TASS' TOPS ALL IN PNE SHOW

High honors in the horse world were brought to Victoria from the Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver this week by Asatil, six-year-old Arabian stallion owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. Thompson, Old West Saanich road. Shown here with Mr. Thompson,

"Tass" as he is nicknamed, won grand championship of Arab horse division of big exhibition after being named best Arab stallion over four years old, then best of any age in show. Thompson bought Asatil as a colt, raised and broke him to riding.—(Times photo)

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

One of the wonderful things in this wide, wide wonderful world is the abundant supply of Experts. I am referring, of course, to the amateur, or at the very most, semi-pro Expert.

Of the two, I prefer the amateur Expert, who expects, and gets, no material reward for his efforts. The semi-pro Expert, who picks up the odd shilling from his Experting in the public prints or over the airwaves, is of great assistance to this wide, wide, wonderful world.

But an Expert who Experts for coin of the realm is not in the same category as the simon-pure Expert, who Experts only to display his Expert knowledge.

(I make no reference to Professional Experts, who are always suspect because they sometimes know what they are talking about.)

There are many types of Experts at large in this wide, wide wonderful world, but there is space available to pay tribute to only a few categories.

The Sports Expert: He always knows why the home team coach (Butch Fidd) shouldn't ought to have played Butch Fidd at quarterback (centre field) (silly mid-on) (at all).

The Sports Expert also knows why Butch Fidd should (pass left-handed) (crowd the plate) (stonewall) (drop dead).

The Weather Expert: Looks at the weather forecast in the paper, sneers, says the paper is never right, my left front clavicle is aching, so it will rain tomorrow, not be cloudy with sunny periods. Outguesses weatherman Bill Mackie nine times out of ten hundred.

The Gardening Expert: Examines your garden with exclamations of delight, says it is beautiful, but you shouldn't have planted the glads where the morning glories should be and did you ever hear of soil resuscitation?

The Literary Expert: Says you write pretty good, but you shouldn't have tried being funny, why, if he had the time he'd write the funniest book you ever did see.

The Domestic Happiness Expert: (Most of these do it for the money, not the challenge.) Explains how to be happy though married, tells you yours could be a contented household if it weren't for the fact the (wife) (husband) is too (demanding) (undemanding).

The Beauty Contest Expert: An exceptionally useful-type expert, for, without his advice, how would you know the third from the right (who won the crown) was much less beautiful than the fifth from the left (who didn't)?

The Child Expert: Knows-with absolute certainty you are being too (rough) (lenient) (tolerant) (severe) on the child, and if it were up to HIM...

The Political Expert: (Now very much in season.) Says I'll give you five to one if there is an election Sept. 19, there will be an election Sept. 19.

The After-You-Have-Bought-Something Expert: The most valuable expert of all. After admiring what you have bought, he tells you you shouldn't have bought it.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Intrusion Prepakt Ltd. of Toronto fall meeting which is tentatively set for September 13.

Nature's alarm clock, the rooster, is unappreciated by at least one Hillside resident.

Mrs. A. Carter, 731 Queens, complained to police they were waking her up too early in the morning.

Police investigation showed the solitary offender was owned by a Chinese at 146 Princess. He was out of town and not expected back until next month, but others at the address were cautioned regarding keeping roosters in the city.

City works officials have completed plans for installation of a concrete ramp, a sea-view terrace and a flight of steps descending to the beach at foot of Marlborough at Dallas Road. Work was authorized under capital beautification program and will be paid by part of the recently approved $75,000 grant to Victoria by the province.

A similar descent is planned at the foot of Moss Street.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city court today: Ronald Caplan, 902 Cook, fined $25 for not having public liability insurance, $25 for not having an adult in his car while learning to drive.

Roy Davis, fined $35 Wednesday for careless driving, restricted to driving only for business for two months.

Lorne Ashton, 1441 Elford, fined $35 for careless driving.

Logger Upsets SC Meeting In Esquimalt

Independent logger Jim Gillespie threw an Esquimalt Social Credit meeting into an uproar Wednesday night by continuing his running fight against forest management licences.

Mr. Gillespie tangled with Social candidate Herbert Bruch and Labor Minister Lyle Wicks. The Esquimalt logging operator was angered by their staunch refusal to answer his questions or read the "30-per-cent clause" in the west coast management licence held by B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

Mr. Gillespie claims the government is not supervising the contract which requires the company to farm out 30 per cent of its holdings to small operators.

DISGUSTED Mr. Bruch replied that he was "disgusted" by opposition attacks on the government's forest management policies and asserted former minister R. E. Sommers "is innocent until proved guilty."

Mr. Wicks declined to enter the dispute.

Earlier in the evening, the labor minister attended a Saanich Social Credit election meeting with candidate John Tisdale.

Asked by a member of his audience why it was necessary to call the election so suddenly and disenfranchise many voters, Mr. Tisdale replied:

"The privilege of registering is open the year round. If people are only going to use their franchise in an emergency, I don't think they are very concerned."

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

New Glasgow returns Esquimalt 9 a.m. Sunday.

Oshawa, Cordova, return Esquimalt, 4 p.m. Monday.

Comox, Fortune, Porte Quebec, returning Friday.

Brookville and Digby leave Monday, return Sept. 7.

Fumigation Asked At Historic Craigflower School

Saanich Council will be requested to set aside a small fund for the fumigation of historic Craigflower school which is slowly being chewed away by wood-eating insects.

Coun. Leslie Passmore, a member of the board of management for the preservation of the school, said today he will ask council to take action to restore the school to its original condition.

Forest biologists reported two years ago that the "powder post beetle," a relative of the death-watch beetle which has damaged many historic buildings in Europe, is undermining the floor of the school.

Coun. Passmore said the provincial government has agreed to match whatever sum Saanich puts up to restore the school to its original condition.

He said some of the money Saanich will receive for the B.C.'s centennial celebrations should be used for this purpose.

"It is a worthwhile project," he said, "unless something is done soon, we will lose one of our most historic buildings."

Admiral Pullen's Condition Good

Th official word on Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, flag officer Pacific Coast, who is convalescing in HMCS Naden hospital following a minor heart attack is: "Condition very satisfactory."

He will be released from hospital within a few days.

Cleanout Set

Bowker Creek is slated to receive another cleanout by city works department starting next week. Cleaning of city sewers being carried out under an extensive sewer depreciation replacement plan has been halted temporarily until arrival of machinery valued at $4,000 which will speed the process.

SUNNY SKIES FOR HOLIDAY

Good weather for the start of the holiday weekend was indicated today by weatherman William Mackie, who said the worst to occur Saturday might be cloudy skies with sunny periods.

"Beyond that we can't see anything too serious," he said.

Friday will be mostly sunny, with temperatures ranging between 50 and 68 degrees, and winds light.

Two Youths Admit Guilt In Shop Fracas

Sentence Friday For Wilful Damage

Two young Victoria men were remanded to Friday for sentence on charges of wilful damage under $50 and possession of a spring knife for which they were arrested by city detectives Wednesday night.

David Hansen, 1824 Lillian, and Ronald Curen, address unavailable, pleaded guilty to the charges in city police court today.

The men were picked up following a disturbance in a Chinatown store at 11.40 p.m. Wednesday.

Frank Won, employee in the shop at 546 Cormorant, called police to complain two youths entered the store to use the telephone, spent 10 minutes talking and holding up the line, were told to hurry then threatened to wreck the shop.

SWEET COUNTER CLEAN

Hansen swept a counter clear of a display of wallets, pens and cigarette lighters, and when another clerk moved to restrain Curen from participating in the altercation, he pulled a spring knife.

Curen dropped the knife, blade open, and the pair drove off in Hansen's car.

Three detectives arrested them a short time later.

Court was told actual damage to the property, owned by Daniel Wpn, amounted to about $8.

Two Bush Fires Extinguished At Ten-Mile Point

Saanich firemen fought bush fires for six hours at Ten-Mile Point Wednesday night, succeeding in halting flames from spreading through the wooded residential area.

About 2½ acres of brush and slash were destroyed. Firemen were unable to say how the fires started.

First call came from 2575 Macdonald at 5.13 p.m. Half an acre of brush was burning and was extinguished in an hour.

At 7.45 the second call came from 3943 Telegraph Bay, and was answered by seven firemen from Shelbourne and No. 1 fire stations.

This fire covered two acres and was not pronounced out until 12.41 a.m.

Firemen said the entire Ten-Mile Point area, mostly wooded and thick with underbrush, could have burned.

Boat Racing At Willows

Racing drivers from several Vancouver Island points and the mainland will compete in the annual Labor Day regatta at Willows Beach, starting at 1.30 p.m.

Directed by the Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association it will be sponsored by the Oak Bay Jubilee Celebration Committee as one of the features of the municipality's golden jubilee program.

Coun. George Murdoch, chairman of the municipal council celebration committee, will open the regatta and present prizes.

There will be 14 events on the program, for both inboard and outboard racers. It will be the last meet of the year in B.C. to have Canadian Boating Federation sanction, and all points won will go toward standings in national championships.

Graham Fraser of Vancouver will be CBF referee.

New boats that will compete for the first time will be Brock Robertson's, Yehudi II, a 135-inch hydroplane that will compete with the speedy Teaser IV of Vancouver, owned and driven by Jimmy Hutchison, and Ron Howard's new 136-inch hydro that was launched today at Oak Bay.

Leading contender will be Joe Van Bergen of Port Alberni, whose 136" hydro is high point boat for B.C. this season.

There will be other entries from Alberni and Port Alberni, Sprout Lake, Campbell River, Nanaimo, Lake Cowichan, Vancouver and Chilliwack.

VICTORIAN AT RED CROSS MEET

City delegate to a Junior Red Cross International study centre at Frederick, Md., held earlier this month was Patricia Mawson, 17, 2868 Colquitz avenue, shown above with Wisconsin delegate Peter T. Zielinski, 17, Miss Mawson will enter grade 12 at Mt. View High school on Wednesday.

Transit Firms Braced for Rush

50,000 Holiday-Makers On Move This Weekend

More than 50,000 holiday-makers will be on the move, to and from Vancouver Island, over the long Labor Day weekend, transportation companies estimate today.

By air, sea, bus, and private car, the influx and outgo of three-day vacationers will tax all avenues of transport.

As Monday is a holiday in the United States as well as Canada, an exceptionally busy weekend is anticipated by hotel and motor court operators.

B.C. Coast Service of the CPR, Black Ball Lines and Trans-Canada Air Lines, are geared up to handle record crowds.

TCA Schedules Extra Flights

The ferry services expect they will be able to handle all-comers with their regularly-scheduled trips, Victoria-Vancouver, Victoria-Seattle, Victoria-Port Angeles, Sidney-Anacortes, and Nanaimo-Vancouver.

TCA has scheduled extra flights, to and from Vancouver and Seattle, for a total of 101 flights over the weekend. More than 5,500 passengers will be handled.

Full Schedule of Sports

Sports events scheduled include: Salmon Club Derby at Port Angeles, Saturday and Sunday; Esquimalt Cerebral Palsy coho derby Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Auto racing, regular stock car meet at Western Speedway, 7.30 p.m. Saturday; Gold Cup race Monday, time trials 2 p.m. Softball, Firefighters vs. Jordan River, senior B knockout competition, Heywood Avenue Park at 6.30 p.m. Friday.

BAND CONCERT

A musicians' union band under Reg Wood will give a concert between 3 and 4 p.m. At 3.45 p.m., there will be a log birling competition, to be immediately followed by a frogmen display. Then a beard-growing contest will be judged.

At 5.30 p.m., the winners of the Elk-Beaver Lakes swim will be presented their prizes.

An amateur talent show will be staged between 6 and 8 p.m., and a treasure hunt will be held for youngsters.

Modern and old-time dancing will start at 8.30 p.m. and will last until 11.30. Charlie Hunt's orchestra and Fred Usher and the Hometowners will provide the music for the dancing.

Refreshments will be available at the concession and barbecued chicken and corn on the cob will be served in the park.

Boat Racing At Willows

Racing drivers from several Vancouver Island points and the mainland will compete in the annual Labor Day regatta at Willows Beach, starting at 1.30 p.m.

Directed by the Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association it will be sponsored by the Oak Bay Jubilee Celebration Committee as one of the features of the municipality's golden jubilee program.

Thetis Park Timber Cruise Under Way

Council to Study Forester's Report

Timber cruising is being carried on in Thetis Lake park despite the recent announcement that a Capital Improvement District Commission is considering taking over the area for development by the province.

City engineer J. C. Garnett said today forester Don Smith is at present carrying out city council instructions and studying what timber can be felled in the park while preserving the beauty.

"I can't deviate from council instructions because of newspaper reports," the engineer said.

NO TENDERS CALLED

July 13 city council approved a plan to call tenders for selective logging of Thetis Lake back areas. Although tenders have not yet been invited a forester formerly employed by Greater Victoria Water District has been employed to examine the area.

His recommendations will be studied by public works committee before logging starts.

Since the decision was reached it was reported the CIDC was negotiating to take over Thetis and Elk Lake Parks for development under a crown corporation. Council indicated unofficially that it might agree to the plan.

But until decision is reached, the city engineers' department is proceeding with the earlier approved project.

Selective logging is expected to yield $60,000 the first year and $15,000 every five years hereafter in a sustained yield basis. Proceeds would be used to develop the park for public usage.

Lumber Company Makes Effort To Reduce Vapor

B.C. Forest Products is making efforts to reduce discharge of vapor from its Gorge Road plywood plant, it was announced Wednesday by the company.

Complaints have been made by Sarah Dean, G. A. Dean and Dorothy Smyth, owners of a converted apartment house opposite the plant, who claim fumes from the dry kiln have made their property unsaleable.

The company is studying temperature controls, filters and other means of vapor abatement.

Manslaughter Hearing Delayed

Preliminary hearing for Rodrick J. Graff, 1613 Belmont, charged with manslaughter in connection with the traffic death July 14 of cyclist Reginald Minihinnick, 68, was put over in city court today to Sept. 5.

Minihinnick died in hospital eight days after he was involved in the accident with Graff's car.

ASK The TIMES

Q—My daughter and I recently visited Ottawa. Will you please tell us the height of the Peace Tower of the Parliament Buildings?—Mrs. E. M. F.

A—It rises to a height of 293 feet above the carefully tended grounds.

Q—Where did the word "hands" originate in specifying a horse's measurements?—J.S.

A—The Oxford English Dictionary traces its use in English as far back as 1561. As a unit of measurement it is interesting to know that at first it was three inches, computed as the breadth of a man's hand and that it was applied in general linear measurement. Gradually as centuries passed it became four inches and eventually it was limited to the measurement of horses' height. The horse always had a prominent place in English civilization, so it is not surprising to observe the growth of the word in the English language.

Perforated Note Pad Pages Featured in Handy New Case

By PENNY SAVER

When I discover that I need a little slip of paper on which to jot a name or address, I usually find that my pockets and purse are empty. Chances are my memory is put to the test, and, sometimes fails me when I try to recall details. Yes, I have a little address book tucked away in the jungle of my purse, but when I want to give a name or some other information to someone else, it's necessary to tear out a page, and this plays havoc with the little book. There's a handy note pad in a plastic fold-over case that looks like leather, and this pad will solve the problems. Each page is divided into quarters by perforations so that you may easily and neatly tear out a piece of paper.

The case is smart, and has metal corners for durability. The case and pad cost 35 cents, and the pads may be replaced.

Dainty feather dusters are charmingly old fashioned, but they've been given a new treatment, and have been sprayed with DDT against moths. On bamboo handles, the puffs of feathers are mauve, blue, pink, black and white, green or yellow. They would make useful and attractive gifts, and are moderately priced at 49 cents.

Another bamboo handled budget-buy is a lawn rake. These rakes are a "must" for those of you who mow the lawns around your house. The price of these will amaze you, and send you right down to take advantage of the sale. They're just 29 cents each!

Breakfast in bed can be a luxury or a chore, depending on whether you're just sleeping in or are feeling under the weather. In either case, a specially constructed tray for the purpose will make things much easier. No more balancing trays, now, for there's a modern bed tray out with wrought iron legs. A pleasant pastoral scene is on the tray itself, which, though securely attached, can be removed.

These trays are a boon to those of us who like to sit on the floor to watch TV and have a snack. For informal buffet meals, too, you'll find people most comfortable sitting on cushions on the floor with one of these handy trays in front of them. They're yours at $3.98 each.

Yesterday I gave you the first of a set of proposed rules to guide shoppers. Here's the second: Read Advertisements carefully—not just the headlines and bold type, but the small type as well.

Tunics and Capes Shown By a Famed Couturier

PARIS (Reuters)—Balenciaga's new fashion showing in Paris reiterates his belief in tunics and capes.

When the rest of Paris picked up the tunic two seasons ago, critics felt it was a passing trend. But Balenciaga features the 7- and 9-10-length tunic in coats and dresses as the main theme of this new collection.

Hemlines are noticeably shorter, striking just below the knee. This length, paired with the long sleeve-tunic, reveals merely an inch or two of undershirt showing at the hemline.

There are "nightshirt" tunics which button from neckline to waist or hip length, with neat shirt-front panels. They must be

ROUNDED SHOULDERS
Even Balenciaga's classic little semi-fitted short suit jackets are shown with tiered tunic skirts, generally 9-10-length. The now-classic suit jackets and coats repeat the famed signatures as the wide, rounded "football player" shoulders; the collarless setaway necklines; bevelled and crenellated hems; welted seams; and straight bracelet length sleeves.

Movie star Paulette Goddard viewed the collection Tuesday wearing one of the master's typical colors: A vivid tomato red.

There are warm coral and lobster pinks, besides many blinding violets and fuchsia shades.

Balenciaga's hats follow the trend toward the top-heavy type of inverted bowl and cassiole. Some resemble hollowed-out volleyballs.

In Honor of the Bride

A surprise shower in honor of Miss Pat MacLean was held recently by Miss Colleen Cameron, 1906 Leighton road. On her arrival, the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. G. MacLean, received corsages of pink roses and carnations, respectively. Many gifts were presented in a large decorated box. Invited guests were Mrs. C. Postuma, Mrs. M. G. Thompson, Mrs. O. Harris, Mrs. W. Gaetz, Mrs. H. Lavell, Mrs. B. Cameron, Misses B. Pettigrew, M. Hughes, B. Johnson, L. Lienweber, C. Chue and R. Sharpe.

Romance

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Languages graduate Betty Jeanne McDougall was married in Rome to Count Leone of San Martino, Italy. Three Italian NATO students taught by the bride when she was a language instructor at an RCAF station here were guests.

Garlic-Ketchup On Burgers

Ketchup does lots for the success of hamburgers. Even better is ketchup seasoned with a zip of garlic. For this, mix ½-cup ketchup with 1 clove garlic (minced). Enough sauce for 4 or 6 burgers.

WHY GROW OLD?

'If I Could Only Date My Husband Again'—Reader

The following quotation from a reader's letter highlights a problem which is prevalent in many homes.

"I had a nervous breakdown not long ago which could have been prevented if my husband had allowed me to hire a baby sitter once in a while anyway, over the years. I had never been away from my children at all for nine years until I went away for a long rest. "If I could only date my husband again! I know a wonderful woman who comes to stay with the children of our friends, and we could afford to hire her if my husband would only agree to do so. I do not think he realizes how hard I have worked ever since we have been married."

On first impulse we wonder, "What sort of a house is he?" Actually, it is impossible for anyone who has not had the care of a home along with the responsibility of caring for young children to know what a constant and wearying job that can be. While the man in the family works hard for eight hours a day he is away from the confusion which young children create and the constant supervision they require.

Most important, he has some companionship with his contemporaries. No matter how fascinating you find the cute sayings of Junior or how intriguing it is to watch your child develop day by day, a mature person requires some mature companionship.

A woman should get away from the four walls of her house and the prattle of children regularly, and the husband who does not realize this is extremely shortsighted. Yet many women actually are trapped in their own homes and never see any other woman except when they take the children along with them.

Even if the pennies are hard to come by, the man of the family should insist that she have relief regularly from her home duties, and take her on dates as often as he can! This is vital to his wife's health as well as her happiness.

A baby sitter, periodically, is the best health insurance a man could give a woman. She will come back refreshed from these short releases. She will keep her own individuality rather than turning into a robot geared only to feed, bathe, dress and monitor small fry.

Otherwise the man himself will be the loser sooner or later because his wife probably will age prematurely, her interests will have narrowed and she may lose the romantic attitude.

Even if the pennies are hard to come by, the man of the family should insist that she have relief regularly from her home duties, and take her on dates as often as he can! This is vital to his wife's health as well as her happiness.

Colors for Older Woman

What colors are proper for a mature woman to wear? This question often gets asked and, like so many questions that bear on individual characteristics, there is no one answer.

Often one feels that a woman who asks such a question is seeking an answer such as "lavender and black" that will remove from her the necessity of making choices when buying clothes. One feels she seeks an answer that will allow her to go straight to the proper clothes rack and select clothes without thought or effort.

Certainly, if one is a dignified person and one's reserve has increased with the years, dignified colors are in order. But this doesn't mean all black. Black-and-white is nice. So is all-white. So are the chocolatey browns and the desert colors.

Colors that look well with one's changing skin coloration are good choices.

WHAT ARE "CULTURED" PEARLS?

Cultured pearls are lustrous gems created by nature in the depths of the ocean. They are started by planting a mother-of-pearl seed in a living oyster, where it becomes coated with layers of pearl "nacre". Fashioned into jewellery, pearls are as versatile as they are beautiful; a lovely complement to tailored, afternoon or evening clothes. Their glowing beauty increases with the years.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

When I was in Quebec City a few weeks ago I was "picked up." It happened near the post office in a pretty little park, shaded with green trees, and overlooking the St. Lawrence River.

Bessie

This park occupies the site of the old Parliament House in which was held the famous Quebec Conference that brought about the Confederation of the British Provinces of North America.

I was busy with light meter and camera when I heard a sweet young voice say, "You are perhaps a v-e-e-sitor in Quebec City?" And I looked up into the delicate, elfin-like face of an 18-year-old girl. Her light brown hair was blowing in the breeze from the river. She was wearing a pink cotton frock and a white sweater and she carried several books.

Her name was Lysa, she said, and she lived far down the Gaspé peninsula. She was in Quebec City for a six-week summer course at Laval University.

"I learn to s-p-e-e-k the good English," she said, "it is well to know this English."

We sat on the edge of the great stone wall, beside a battery of huge guns and we talked. With my few words of French, her halting, but delightful English, and, of course with our hands.

There was an examination that morning, Lysa told me. But she was not ready for it. So, her instructor had sent her out on another assignment.

She was to find an English-speaking person and talk to that person for an hour or more in English.

That's how I happened to be "picked up."

Browsing in Famed Laval

Lysa invited me on a conducted tour of Laval, so we set off along a steep narrow street that follows the ramparts to a long lane-like passageway. This led to a courtyard and to the doorways through which thousands of students have entered the famed university.

We went to the lecture halls, we peeked into the professors' rooms, the chemistry labs, the physics rooms and the mechanical science rooms, filled with specimens of every modern invention or appliance.

We spent some time in the library where there are more than 350,000 books.

Under Lysa's gentle prompting we took an old-fashioned elevator to a top floor where the art gallery and museum is located. The curator, who spoke some English accompanied us on a tour of the gallery.

We were shown the Royal Charter given to Laval by Queen Victoria in 1852; letters written during the XVIIth century and signed by Louis XIV, Anne d'Autriche and Marie Therese.

There were lovely old pieces of furniture that came to the new world from France; a collection of some of Canada's first stamps; a wonderful art collection from Canadian, Italian, French, Dutch, Spanish and English schools. The names Lebrun, Puget, Joseph Vernet, Reynolds, Rosa, D'Albani and Romanelli, were spoken over and over again.

Summer Language Classes

Before we left the great old building, Lysa took me along to a very large, high-ceilinged classroom, where several groups of students were studying under professors. In these groups were nuns and monks, business men and well dressed women, young boys and girls.

I heard one group intoning in English "This is a book. I open this book. Another group was speaking in halting French.

"You see, they come from m-a-n-e-e places to s-p-e-e-k this English and also to s-p-e-e-k the French. The-es summer course is very b-u-s-e-e," Lysa told me.

In the elevator as we returned to the ground floor was a group of young girls from the United States. They knew Lysa and they spoke to her in a garbled selection of French and English. She answered in the same fashion and they all laughed in friendly merriment.

"It is much fun," she told me, as we left the university, "and I met m-a-n-e-e new friends."

I asked Lysa why she wished to learn English. Did she not have her own French language?

"Oh-h-h," she said, "with you it is d-e-e-f-e-r-e-n-t. You do not need the French when you live. Here in Quebec, we must have the English, if we would work, if we would live."

We said "au revoir" at the entrance to the long lane-like passageway that leads to the courtyard of the university. We promised to write to each other—in English.

I walked back up the narrow cobble-stoned street and along the ramparts. I had enjoyed the experience of being "picked up" in Quebec City.

In Honor of the Bride

Miss Mary Stevenson, whose marriage takes place Oct. 6, was guest of honor at a dinner party at the Princess Mary recently when hostess was her aunt, Mrs. R. A. Stevenson, visiting from Peoria, Ill. During the evening Miss Stevenson was presented with a table lamp. Guests were Mrs. A. L. Stevenson, Mrs. J. Stevenson, Mrs. J. P. McColl, Mrs. B. Acreman, Mrs. T. Handasyde, Mrs. J. Phillips and Misses Marion Stevenson, Moira McColl, Gaylene Magrath and Donna Deane.

To honor Miss Barbara Mottishaw, August bride-elect, Mrs. W. J. Orchard and Miss Leona Orchard entertained at a surprise miscellaneous shower at their home on Government St. A corsage of red roses was presented to the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. E. J. Mottishaw received pink carnations en corsage. Gifts were arranged in a rose decorated basket. Invited guests were Mrs. W. A. Mottishaw, Mrs. A. Plancher, Mrs. G. F. Thomas, Mrs. G. R. Amyotte, Mrs. E. W. Moir, Mrs. T. Whitting and Misses Marilyn Mottishaw, Sylvia Moir and Jean MacMillan.

Miss Ann Draper, whose wedding will take place Sept. 17 in White Horse, Y.T., was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held by Misses Gaylene Magrath and Marion Stevenson at the Stevenson home, 2701 Dufferin avenue. Gifts were presented in a rainbow colored wishing well. Miss Draper received a corsage of pink roses and stephanotis while her mother, Mrs. William Draper received pink and white carnations.

Miss Nancy Chew Wed In Double-Ring Ceremony

Recently in Centennial United Church, Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiated at a double-ring wedding ceremony in which Miss Nancy Chew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chew Dang, 4846 West Saanich road, became the bride, and Miss Shirley Hee, niece of the bride, both were in floor-length gowns in a style similar to the bride. They carried bouquets of orchid gladioli with matching headresses in complement to their gowns of orchid and silver brocade, satin. Flower girl, Diane Denise Jones, niece of the bride, wore a soft pink antique taffeta floor-length gown and carried a basket of gladioli and carnations. She wore a halo of pink carnations.

The groom had Andrew Wong as best man, while Dr. John Wong of Nanaimo and the groom's nephew, Alan Sing, were the ushers.

Music by Andy Anderson's orchestra was enjoyed at a reception held in Club Sirocco. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier cake, made and decorated by Douglas MacKinnon. White candles and baskets of carnations and gladioli flanked the cake, and pink gladioli with pink bows bordered the table.

Toast to the bride was made by Dr. Frank Stuart.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip motoring through the interior of the province and then to Banff, the bride wore a turquoise sheath dress with a white linen duster with mandarin collar and three-quarter-length sleeves. She chose a white picture hat and gloves and beige shoes and purse. Her corsage was of red roses and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Sing will live at 1143 Pandora avenue when they return.

In honor of Mr. Newcomb, a farewell party was held in the Canadian Legion Hall by members of the scout group committee. Refreshments were served and entertainment was provided in the form of skits by the Boy Scouts.

On behalf of the group committee, the president, William McDowell, presented Mr. Newcomb with an autograph album and a gift of money. Courtney Loggin presented him with an initial cigarette lighter from the Boy Scouts.

Women's Benefit Association, Revue No. 1, will meet in the Orange Hall Monday at 8 p.m.

Wedding Vows Heard In Evening Ceremony

Last evening in Esquimalt United Church Rev. D. R. Pilek officiated at the wedding ceremony which united in marriage Miss Janet Carrie Olson and Kenneth Joseph Jenks. Organist was Tom Richardson.

Of Personal Interest

Wedding Guests

Out-of-town guests who attended the recent wedding of Miss Nancy Chew and Mr. James Alan Sing were Mrs. Helen Tom and family, North Surrey, B.C.; Mrs. Alice Hee and family, Mrs. Joan Bing and family, Miss Susan Chew, Mr. George Quan and Miss Sheila Kaila, New Westminster; Mrs. Mary Yip and family, Duncan; Mr. Sammy Chew, Mr. and Mrs. James Wong and family, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Chong, Mr. Jimmy Yee and Mr. George Preston, Vancouver; Mrs. Esther Mark and family, Winnipeg; Mr. Clayton Eng, Seattle, and Miss Bernice Liddiard, Niagara Falls, Ont.

A reception followed at the home of the groom's mother, where Joseph Hunter proposed the toast to the bride.

Following a trip through the interior of the province, the newlyweds will live in New Hazelton, B.C., where the bride will teach.

Wed in Anacortes

Miss Sophie Preiswerk, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Preiswerk, 910 Grand Boulevard, North Vancouver, was married recently to Mr. Wallace Harvey Palm, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Palm of Anacortes, Wash., in an evening ceremony in Anacortes. The ceremony was attended by close members of the family. The bride, granddaughter of Mrs. G. Preiswerk, Victoria, and the late Dr. Preiswerk, attended St. Margaret's School here and University of British Columbia in Vancouver. For the ceremony held in the Lutheran Church she wore a Forstman wool import in a sun gold color with a sheath line and trumpet pleated skirt. Her hat was a blue fur felt in bonnet style, and her flowers were white orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Palm will live in Anacortes.

At Island Resort

Victorians holidaying recently at Shawanigan Beach Hotel were Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jones with Keith and Brian, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Dixon with Janice and Alan, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Young, Mr. and Mrs. F. Colombar, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bray with Diane and Beverley, Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Edgell with Peter, Dorothy and Elizabeth, Mr. W. A. Porter, Mrs. D. R. Barkley, Miss P. H. Summerhayes, Mr. and Mrs. R. Paul and Miss A. A. Cowley.

Returned Home

Cpl. David Burdon, RCAF, and Mrs. Burdon, with Shelley, Christine and Michael, have returned to their home in Penhold, Alta, after spending the summer in Victoria with Cpl. Burdon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Burdon, Sr., 251 Ontario street.

Home Again

Mrs. Isabel Hood, Mrs. A. J. H. Stelck, Miss Claire Barrow, Miss Ebertha Curry, Miss Wilma Knowles and Mrs. Cioedagh Dowling, who travelled to Ontario earlier in the summer in the Stratford Shakespearean tour group, have now returned to their homes here.

In Seattle

Miss Sheila Mackinnon, 4853 Townsend drive, Royal Oak, left last Saturday for Seattle to join Miss Vivien Briggs. While there they will attend ballet classes of Mr. Andre. Miss Briggs has just completed a course at the Cornish School of Dancing. Both girls are pupils of the Wynn Shaw Dance School here.

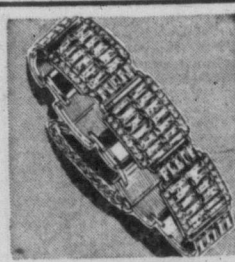

Here's why Ovaltine cold is the best summer drink yet!

Ovaltine mixed with cold milk is a delicious, refreshing drink and has a delightful flavour that every member of the family enjoys. Ovaltine assists you, too, in replacing the energy so freely spent in hot weather. You see, because Ovaltine is light, easily assimilated nourishment it satisfies hunger without bulk... supplies your body with important food elements. Try easy-to-mix cold Ovaltine often—in either of two wonderful flavours, Chocolate Flavoured Ovaltine or Plain Unsweetened Ovaltine—at food and drug stores everywhere.

Boy of 16 Gets 14-Month Term In Oakalla Jail

NANAIMO — Gerald Haines, 16, Trail, was sentenced in police court here to 14 months definite and two years indeterminate at Oakalla when he pleaded guilty to car theft Aug. 12.

One of five boys who broke out of the Brannan Lake School, he was transferred from juvenile to open court. He was given the indeterminate sentence as the suspected driver of a stolen car that led police on an 85-mile-per-hour chase, and sideswiped another car near Qualicum.

His two companions in the escape were remanded for sentence at the school.

Fourth of the five boys, Robert Kaine, 16, of Boston Bar, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering, and was sentenced to 12 months plus two years less a day indeterminate at Oakalla. The fifth boy, charged with breaking and entering and theft, was returned to the school.

MOVIE GUIDE UNAVAILABLE

Due to the absence from the city of the PTA compiler, the Child Movie Guide is unavailable this week but will be carried again in next Thursday's issue.

N.S. Setting For Rank Film

HALIFAX (CP) — British movie actress Betty St. John arrived here Tuesday from London. Miss St. John plays a lead role in the J. Arthur Rank movie, "High Tide at Noon," being filmed at North-west Cove, about 40 miles south-west of here. With the 25-year-old actress is Philip Leacock, producer of the "Kidnappers," and "High Tide's" production manager, H. Attwood.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1956

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Try to make some very comprehensive plans for this coming weekend today. Decide ways you can have your home life more pleasant, relaxed and agreeable. This may mean putting yourself out somewhat but it's well worth it.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Fine day for you to get errands done, sales or purchases made, studies completed, trips or jaunts commenced, transportation or correspondence wound up. Keep busy all today and tonight. Let others know your part in their picture.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—This is your day to look at every department of your practical interests to see if you are getting the utmost results for the effort you are putting forth. Remember you can do whatever you can accurately envision, and then work.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—You have an unusually good day today. You have a chance to go off on a trip, or if you have duties at home, at least to gain some very valuable information that will open your eyes to opportunities that have seemed missing. Get on the beam.

LEO (July 22 to August 21)—This is your day to get off alone for at least a little while. See just what you actually want. Then put into motion a plan that will give you plenty of it. Think big now and you can get large results from the planets.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22)—Friends who take their time about making decisions but who have your welfare at heart are now in a position and willing to give you the benefit of their experience to bring you more success with associates and the general public.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)—Be just as worldly as you like today. Go see those able to give you a public appointment, a raise, some additional credit, a job, an opening at some civic or patriotic work. Don't hide your light under a bushel. Show it now.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)—Matters or persons at a distance, or yourself going to them for the weekend, etc., are your outlet to really make hay while the sun shines on you. Be sure to ask advice now from those who are more experienced than you. Be dynamic.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)—Paying all bills, making collections of monies due you while thinking out, and discussing with others how you can have more joint success in new deals all fine. P.M. enjoy romantic pleasures. Be gentle with those you love.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—This is your day to go directly to any colleagues, companions, mate or attachment. Let them know how you feel about it. It doesn't affect your independence to say a few sweet comments. Then you gain new well-being for long time.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Nothing like a good day's work at the job which interests you, as an Aquarian, the most. Keep on your toes for ways to aid your fellow-man. Be of service. Get your health, personal appearance in good shape, too. P.M. have fun.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Now you have a day when you feel just like beating the world, only the astrological aspects indicate that you can please others into seeing things your way. Excellent in late day for recreation, sports, parties. Be happy.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY

Friday's child is one of those interesting youngsters who is sensitive and devoted to home and family, whether a boy or a girl. Make sure you have many playmates about or your progeny can become too great an introvert and later, when economic reasons necessitate, will have a hard time adjusting to the outside world of action. This is a fine chart for work connected with merchandising or brings articles to the attention of the general public as well as all artistic outlets that appeal.

Sealed tenders will be received at the office of the Purchasing Agent, Winnipeg, Manitoba, until two o'clock, Central Standard Time, in the afternoon of Friday, the 25th day of September, 1956, for clearing and stripping the site and alternative (1) production and stockpiling of 100,000 net tons or alternative (2) production and stockpiling of 500,000 net tons of improved ballast in the NW¼ of Section 24, Township 51, Range 25, W. 5th M., near Hinton, Alberta.

Plans, specifications and form of contract may be seen and form of tender obtained from the office of the Chief Engineer, Winnipeg District Engineers at Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver; Division Engineers at Regina, Calgary and Victoria.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on form supplied by the Railway and accompanied by an acceptance cheque drawn on a chartered bank in Canada in favor of Canadian National Railways, equal to five per cent of the total amount of the tender.

No bid bonds will be accepted with tenders for this work.
The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Game Department To Stock Deer Lake

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. game department will begin a project next week to stock Deer Lake with trout and still leave it suitable for swimming.

First, 3,000 pounds of solution of rotenone, a chemical poisonous to fish, will be dumped in the lake to kill "undesirable" non-game fish — catfish, suckers and squafish.

Biologist Stuart Smith of Vancouver will drink a glass of the solution just to show it isn't harmful to humans.

The dead fish will be removed and in six to eight weeks, when the chemical has completely lost its poisonous effects, the lake will be stocked, probably with legal-size trout.

"We can make Deer Lake a first class recreational asset to the Vancouver area and still keep the lake fit for swimming," says Mr. Smith.

He said success of the project demands that fishing be supervised or all the trout will be caught in a few weeks.

PASSES? NO THANKS!

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Touchdown Club held a drawing Tuesday for free tickets to a San Francisco '49-er—Chicago Cardinals football game.

The first winner was Art Wittemore. He smiled but returned the tickets, saying "I think I can get in without them."

Wittemore, as superintendent of Kezar Stadium, hands out the passes.

Beavers Snap Hex

Portland's Beavers, beaten 15 straight times by Los Angeles, turned on the Angels Wednesday night and scored three times in the ninth inning for a 5-4 triumph.

That and second-place Seattle's 5-1 victory over Vancouver cut the Angels' safe first-place lead to 1½ games in the Pacific Coast League.

Sacramento dumped Hollywood, 3-1, before only 675 paying spectators in filmland and San Francisco upended San Diego, 9-4, before 671 in Seals stadium.

MOE, JOE LEAD

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Moe Norman of Kitchener, Ont., and Joe Lazaro of Waltham, Mass., led the field to capture the Scotch foursome Wednesday, opening event in the international blind golf championships.

They scored a sizzling 80 to set a record for two-ball foursome play with blind and sighted golfers.

New B.C. Resources Atlas Sells Well; One-Third Gone

First shipments of a new 102-page B.C. atlas issued under the auspices of the B.C. Natural Resources Conference will leave Victoria next week.

Conference secretary Dr. David Turner said today orders have been received for more than one-third of the first edition of 10,000.

Second edition of the atlas will be turned over to another group, Dr. Turner said.

"Then we can begin work on a book, a story from all of the 10 years of the conference telling about the natural resources of the province, and in very readable form."

Woods Seeks New Job

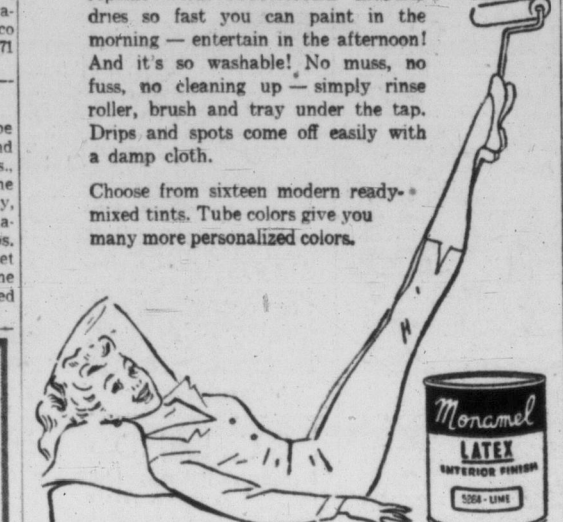

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—Former lightweight boxer Bobby Woods left Billings Wednesday for Spokane and a new line of work suitable for a 21-year-old whose vision has been cut to 30 per cent of normal.

"I was down for the count of nine—now I am up again," said Woods, who once fought world champions Sandy Saddler and Jimmy Carter. He said he would try to find work in a clothing store in Spokane.

Important gasoline development for high-compression engines:

From aviation fuel — new pick-up for your car!

Aviation Blend, originally designed for airline fuel, is now in Chevron Supreme. It's Skypower — newest answer to the power needs of every car on the road! This formula vaporizes harmful deposits that other gasolines allow to form in your engine's combustion chamber. Result: lively response when you need it in traffic, added power that makes steep grades easier, new freedom from knock when you accelerate.

We take better care of your car—

Skypower insures clean burning — helps stop valve corrosion and ring wear. You also get famous carburetor-cleaning "Detergent-Action" — to increase gas mileage, prevent stalling. Chevron Supreme with Skypower is today's most modern motor fuel. If your car does not require Supreme, get all the power it can deliver with Chevron Gasoline. MRS. LUCY'S MOTION DENIED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A federal judge Wednesday denied a motion seeking to force University of Alabama to readmit Mrs. Autherine Lucy Foster, Negro co-ed expelled last February following riots at the school.

Judge Hobart Grooms denied a motion by Arthur D. Shores, lawyer, for the woman, in which he sought to have the judge set aside her expulsion by the university.

Deep South Seething As Integration Grows

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve Negro pupils entered classrooms of a newly integrated high school at Clinton, Tenn., by a side entrance today under watchful eyes of a reinforced police force while a crowd of 200 stood by without incident.

Clinton police and sheriff's deputies were stationed at all entrances as a precaution against any effort to prevent entry of the Negroes, who were taken home early Wednesday by officers to prevent trouble from the milling crowd.

John Kasper, from Washington, D.C., who has been blamed for stirring up the tense racial situation in Clinton, was not at the school today as he was on previous days this week.

Instead, he stayed down the street in front of the police station "because of this injunction they have against me."

Clinton school officials asked federal court in Knoxville, Tenn., Wednesday night, for a contempt citation against Kasper for his activities against integration of the high school.

The school officials asked federal Judge Robert L. Taylor to jail Kasper for violating a restraining order Taylor had issued only a few hours earlier. They acted after Kasper, undaunted by the court order, harangued a crowd of 800 at the Anderson county courthouse.

Two measures aimed at keeping segregation in Alabama were approved in a special election Tuesday. One provides a "freedom of choice" for parents to decide to send their children to segregated institutions.

It also gives the state legislature authority to abolish public education and give school moneys to private schools. The other provides that counties or cities may sell or give away parks, playgrounds, swimming pools, golf courses or public housing projects.

In Norfolk, Va., Wednesday, the city golf course was opened to unrestricted use by Negroes by order of federal Judge Walter E. Hoffman. He granted a temporary injunction requested by three Negroes who contended that their exclusion from the course six days a week was a "clear, undeniable violation" of their rights.

The Louisiana legislature began a special 12-day session today with

Electronic Music-Maker Imitates Every Instrument, Even Bagpipes

OTTAWA (BUP)—The National research council's sackbut, an electronic gadget that can imitate almost any musical instrument, is undergoing a dress-up job.

The new model will be housed in a polished cabinet and will be "more reliable and varied, with improved tonal qualities," a council spokesman said.

The NRC's sackbut gets its name from an instrument of Biblical times which sounded like the "gliss" of a trombone.

The original model was described as "looking like nothing on earth." It is a one-note-at-a-time instrument with a piano-like keyboard. It weighs less than 100 pounds and could be produced commercially for less than $1,000.

Vertical pressure on a key controls the volume, and sideways pressure controls pitch, making possible "vibrato" and "slide." A hand-operated sliding device varies the timbre through a wide range and makes possible the imitation of any one of a large number of stringed or wind instruments—including the bagpipes.

Another control can produce an effect similar to that of a trumpet moving a hat in front of his instrument. The keys wiggle sideways as well as up and down.

A complete symphony orchestra could be made up of sackbuts, NDC officials said. So far, one sackbut can imitate only one instrument at a time.

The officials said electronic instruments like the sackbut would enable composers to turn out music that conventional instruments couldn't possibly play. Four of the electronic instruments recently masqueraded as a string ensemble for a panel of experts. The musical sages were unable to spot any tonal difference between the gadgets and the real thing.

Antique Fair Needs Pieces

Victoria antique dealers will display 12 booths and four rooms furnished in period style at the first Antique Dealers' Fair in the Empress Hotel's Crystal Ballroom, Oct. 9 and 10.

The rooms will be furnished in oak, walnut, early mahogany and 19th century rosewood, with a background of pictures, silver, china and glass of the period.

To date the number of contributions to the display has been "only fair," says Mrs. Peggy Bartholomew. "We will welcome any objects of outstanding interest that would fit into these backgrounds."

Those interested are asked to phone Mrs. Bartholomew at 3-8122. All objects will be fully insured.

Proceeds from ticket sales will go to the Victoria Symphony Orchestra and Victoria Arts Centre.

PGE TRACK RIPPED UP AS 'SPECIAL' RETURNS

SQUAMISH, B.C. (CP)—A Pacific Great Eastern freight train was derailed late Wednesday, ripping up more than 300 feet of track north of here. Five of nine cars in the train left the track after a wheel of one gave at a curve near Cheakamus station. The derailed cars crashed into the side of the cutting. There were no injuries.

A three-section inaugural train opening a new section between here and Vancouver, 40 miles south, was held up more than 16 hours Monday by a landslide. It was to leave Prince George this morning for the return trip.

NATO Talks Suez Crisis Next Week

TODAY'S DEVELOPMENTS

1. NATO council hurriedly called to Paris for Suez crisis talks next Wednesday.
2. Britain expels two Egyptian diplomats.
3. France airlifts troops to Cyprus, strategic British bastion 250 miles from canal.
4. Stock markets decline on broad front before new Suez crisis threat.

LONDON (AP)—The foreign office announced tonight that the North Atlantic council will meet in Paris next week to consider the Suez canal dispute.

Simultaneously, the foreign office revealed it had ordered Cyprus by air to bolster Britain's representative at next week's hurriedly arranged meeting of NATO's top body. A foreign office spokesman said the meeting will open Wednesday.

In reply to a question the spokesman added that the meeting had already been arranged and invitations had gone out. He said that he did not know whether foreign ministers would be attending.

The spokesman said he did not know which government had taken the initiative in calling the meeting.

Britain's expulsion of the Egyptian diplomats follows similar action by Egypt this week against two British diplomats at Cairo after allegations that the British Embassy there was involved in an alleged spy ring.

French foreign officials refused to confirm or deny the reports, widely published by Paris newspapers. They declined to publicly go beyond a foreign office communiqué which said the British government had agreed to a French request to temporarily station a contingent of French troops on Cyprus.

Meanwhile, the five-power committee which is to meet Egyptian President Nasser in Cairo Monday met for nearly two hours. A statement said the committee will hold another meeting Saturday before leaving for Cairo by plane Sunday.

At the NATO meeting in Paris next week Britain and France presumably will put before their allies whatever measures they mean to take if talks with Nasser break down.

The Egyptian press, apparently with official sanction today continued to whip up charges that an alleged British spy ring had plotted a coup against President Nasser.

Cairo authorities said two more Britons—seven in all—were named as members Wednesday by James Swinburn, alleged ring-leader of the plot. Egyptian newspapers say Swin-

WANTED FOR SHOPLIFTING

Star Red Athlete Hunted by Police

LONDON (UP)—Mrs. Nina Ponomareva, 210-pound Soviet Olympic discus champion, vanished today before she could be tried on charges she shoplifted five pastel berets from a London bargain basement.

Magistrate Clyde Wilson issued a warrant for the arrest of the 27-year-old athlete but police said they could not find her at the Soviet Embassy, the consul or at the hotel where she has been staying.

Nina was arrested Wednesday for stealing five 90-cent pastel hats — "bakers boy berets" — from a cut-rate London department store. She was released without bail in the custody of a Soviet diplomat and ordered to show up in court today.

Police were still uncertain whether she was being hidden by Russian friends or whether the frightened and disgraced Olympic star had simply disappeared with her grief and embarrassment to avoid Soviet officials.

Two women store detectives seized the heavily-muscled mother Wednesday while she was looking at capitalistic fripp-

CITY CHINESE AMONG MISSING

A last-minute switch from Pan American to Canadian Pacific Air Lines may have cost Lee Lock, city Chinese greenhouse operator, his life in the Alaska air crash.

Lee Lock, 60, of 4344 Tyn-dall, is one of three Victoria Orientals listed as "dead or missing."

The others are Chan Tai, 54½ Flisgard, partner in a Chinatown restaurant, and Chow Eng Hai, Saanich. Both were in their 20s and both were going to Hong Kong to be married.

DRIVER CRITICAL

Slo Mo IV Whips Over At 115 mph

DETROIT (AP)—Veteran Detroit powerboat driver Joe Taggart suffered severe injuries today when Slo-Mo-Stun IV, which he was piloting in Gold Cup trials on the Detroit River, flipped over at about 115 miles an hour and sank.

Taggart was taken to a hospital in a condition doctors said was so precarious they began treating him in an ambulance, fearing to remove him to the emergency room.

Big Airliner From Vancouver Was Tokyo-Bound

VANCOUVER (CP)—A giant Canadian Pacific airliner caught fire in the air and crashed Wednesday night on the southwestern coast of Alaska and 15 of 22 persons aboard were dead or missing. The other seven survived.

Four Victorians were aboard. Second Officer Robert Love, 28, is listed among the injured survivors. His wife and three children reside at 2789 Benson Place.

Victoria Chinese, Chan Tai and Chow Eng Hai, both in their 20s, and Lee Lock, 60, are listed as "dead or unaccounted for."

The four-engine DC-6B airliner, bound from Vancouver to Tokyo with eight crew members and 14 passengers, went down on a tidal flat near the CPA refuelling base at Cold Bay, 1,710 miles northwest of here and 750 miles southeast of Anchorage at the extreme tip of the peninsula.

The plane was reported to have made one pass over the field and was making a second approach when it crashed short of the runway.

Cmdr. W. W. Clark, executive officer of the United States navy's station at Kodiak, said the pilot radioed just before the crash that the plane was on fire.

A few hours after the crash came in bad weather, a rising tide began to flood the wreckage and hampered men searching for the missing.

Survivors included the plane's captain, Thornton Alexander Tweed, 32, whose bush pilot father taught him to fly when he was 11 years old and who was the youngest pilot ever to solo in Canada. Captain Tweed, whose father died in a plane crash at Juneau, Alaska, in 1939, was injured.

The other survivors included three other members of the plane's crew and three passengers.

They were: Second Officer Love. Stewardess Doreen Jordan, 26, whose father, Robert Jordan, lives in Calgary.

Sharon Edelstein, 16, and her sister Patricia, 7, daughters of Ted Edelstein, CPA manager at Hong Kong.

York Sing Chan, Vancouver, one of 10 Oriental passengers. Name of one crew member was not available immediately.

CPA said crew members unaccounted for or dead were:

First Officer Philip D. Iversen, 37, Vancouver.

Stewardess Evelyn Lee, 26, of Vancouver.

Stewardess Anita Wong, 25, of Vancouver.

First Officer Iversen was a regular captain who was making a familiarization flight for overseas duty. He had been flying for CPA out of Whitehorse, Y.T.

The other two western passengers aboard were Canadian Catholic priests, Rev. James Macintosh of St. Andrews, N.S., and Rev. Vincent McGough of Toronto. They had sent a cable to the Scarborough Foreign Mission in Tokyo saying they were leaving Vancouver on flight 307, the one that crashed.

The plane was carrying less than half of its capacity load of 52 passengers when it left Vancouver at 5:30 p.m. PDT. The flight to Cold Bay normally takes seven hours.

Rescue Ships, Planes on Way

When the plane went down at 9:45 p.m., Kodiak time (12:45 a.m. PDT), U.S. rescue units sent out two amphibian planes — one from Kodiak and one from Adak — and two ships — the coast guard cutter Winona and the freighter Tom Bigbee, to search for the missing persons. The hunt was hampered by extremely bad weather. Each of the planes carried a doctor and medical supplies.

The injured persons rescued were to be flown to Elmendorf Field near Anchorage.

Cmdr. Clark said at least four of them were so badly injured they could not be moved without a doctor's aid.

The Edelstein girls, who escaped injury, were driven to the airport here by their mother. She came to Canada about six weeks ago with the girls and another daughter, Verona, 14. Mrs. Edelstein is visiting here and Verona is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Edelstein in Regina.

Mr. Edelstein was transferred from Calgary to Hong Kong two years ago. His wife said the girls were on their way back to school in Hong Kong and had done "a lot of flying."

Investigation was planned immediately by the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board and the Canadian Transport Department. W. R. Lavary, inspector of civil aviation in Vancouver, has been sent to the scene to act as observer for the Canadian government.

CPA said the plane was a new one on the run. Its route would have taken it to Tokyo and Honk Kong and then back to Vancouver with the same stops. Then it would go as far south as Lima, Peru, and return through Mexico City to Vancouver.

The fact that it had made a stop at Mexico City led CPA officials to believe that some of the passengers might have come from Mexico, but this was not definite.

The crash was the airline's first since May 12, 1953, when a Canso was wrecked in the harbor at Prince Rupert, B.C., with the loss of two lives.

The airlines sent a DC-6B relief plane from Vancouver to Cold Bay at 10 a.m. PDT today with operations personnel. The plane may bring back survivors who are able to travel.

CPA Passenger List

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines today provided this list of persons aboard its DC-6B that crashed Wednesday night in Alaska:

Survivors: Capt. Thornton Alexander Tweed, 33, Burnaby, B.C., injured.

Second Officer Robert Love, 28, Victoria, injured.

Stewardess Doreen Jordan, 26, Burnaby, B.C., formerly of Calgary, injured.

Sharon Edelstein, 16, and her sister, Patricia, 7, daughters of Ted Edelstein, CPA manager at Hong Kong, both uninjured.

York Sing Chan, Vancouver. One unidentified crew member.

Dead or missing: First officer Philip D. Iversen, 37, Vancouver.

Navigator William R. Hunsinger, 32, North Vancouver, B.C., formerly of Herbert, Sask.

TORONTO (CP)—An anxious watch was placed on the Humber River early today as heavy rains swelled the river to flood level. Evacuations were under way in some areas.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O GOD, Thou hast not left us without hope in this world. We are saved by hope. Thou hast given us the assurance that death will not be the end of all things for us. In Jesus Christ we have the fulfillment of that promise: "Now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when He shall appear we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is." Through Jesus Christ. Amen.

Child Knows Daddy In 'Big Accident'

BY TONY DICKASON

Nancy, 5, knows daddy has been in a "big accident." Billy, 4, has a tot's idea something is wrong but Susan, 2, today is just her usual wide-eyed and happy elfish self.

These are the children of co-pilot Robert Love, 28, and pretty wife Beatrice, 25, 2789 Benson Place.

He is one of the survivors of the Alaska CPA crash.

"It's wonderful, it's wonderful," Mrs. Love said over and over again today when she learned Bob was alive.

She first heard of the crash at about 6:30 a.m. today from CPA. The company promised to keep her informed.

FINE PILOT

Said Mrs. Love of her husband of six years, "he's such a wonderful pilot, but every time he leaves us here I tell him to be careful, and think of the children."

The second officer's parents also live in Victoria, at 463 Chester. Said Mrs. W. F. Love: "Oh heavens we are relieved, but we're worried as to what sort of injuries he may have."

Robert Love is Victoria-born and attended Oak Bay High and Victoria College.

He joined the RCAF and graduated with pilot's wings from Centralia, Ont., winning the Armstrong-Siddeley Trophy for getting the highest marks of the graduating class.

He was six years in the RCAF as an instructor of NATO airmen, then spent a short time with the provincial forestry service in Chilliwack.

"But his love was flying, and he joined CPA in February last year," said Beatrice.

Thug Loses Weapon, Gets Clobbered

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. John Cradick, 34, told police she seized a hammer with which she was beaten by a man who broke into her home early today and drove the assailant off with head blows.

Officers said they found a man in a house a mile away suffering from severe head injuries and placed him under guard in General Hospital where Mrs. Cradick also was taken for treatment.

Gagliardi to Push New Island Roads

Start Next Year on Extending Island Highway to Pt. McNeill

A new road link with the forest-and-minerals-rich northern tip of Vancouver Island is scheduled to be started next year, Highway Minister Gagliardi announced Wednesday.

The multi-million dollar project, involving extension of the Island Highway on the east coast from Kelsey Bay to Port McNeill, was first disclosed during the last legislative session when Mr. Gagliardi referred to a "10 year plan."

Negotiations have been proceeding for the past few months between the government and industrial firms in the area and Mr. Gagliardi announced Wednesday that Alaska Pine and Cellulose has agreed to share the cost of the road.

Department of highways engineers will be sent to the area "as quickly as possible" to choose a route, the minister said.

The coastal route between Kelsey Bay and Port McNeill, about 50 miles, would be the shortest but may be too expensive because of rough terrain.

The alternative is a longer inland route through the Nimpkish Valley.

Long-range plans also call for construction of a number of roads on the tip linking such communities as Holberg, Coal Harbor, Port Alice, Englewood, Zeballos, Tahsis and Telegraph Cove.

Alaska Pine has operations at many of these points. Mr. Gagliardi said he did not know whether the company planned any expansion in connection with the road.

A number of recently-discovered mineral deposits in the Quatsino area would also benefit. Inaccessible farming land could be developed.

"This road will liberate people who now are bottled up in the area," Mr. Gagliardi said.

The upper island highway is also envisioned as a main route to Kitimat and upcoast points.

Mr. Gagliardi said Black Ball Ferries Ltd. had expressed interest in establishing a service from Port Hardy to Kitimat. Port McNeill and Port Hardy are already linked by a road.

WEST-AIDING PAKISTANI DIES AT 61

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for former Governor-General Ghulam Muhammad, the man chiefly responsible for aligning Pakistan with the West.

Muhammed died of a heart ailment Wednesday night at the age of 61.

As governor-general from 1951 to August, 1955, Ghulam Muhammad negotiated the agreements aligning Pakistan with the United States and later directed his nation to membership in the British-sponsored Baghdad Pact.

Polish Lothario Sentenced to Die For Six Murders

KRAKOW, Poland (Reuters)—Wladyslaw Mazurkiewicz, dubbed the Polish Don Juan, was sentenced to death here today for murdering four men and two women.

Mazurkiewicz, 45, a handsome man-about-town, admitted the murders when the trial opened and then withdrew his confession in the final stages.

He was alleged to have killed his victims between 1943 and 1955, disposing of the bodies of the four men in the River Vistula.

He was said to have buried two sisters—one of them still alive—in a hole in his garage.

The court was told he killed for money to meet his taste for high living.

Evidence showed that not until an intended seventh victim escaped with a bullet in his head was Mazurkiewicz found out.

Anscomb's Position Puzzles Politicians

(Special to the Times)
PRINCE GEORGE—Reports that former B.C. Progressive Conservative Party leader and finance minister Herbert Anscomb has patched up his long-standing feud with Premier W. A. C. Bennett and may support the Social Credit Party are keeping politicians abuzz aboard the special PGE inaugural train.

The rumors gained credence today when Mr. Anscomb declined to make any comment, saying he wanted time to consider his answer.

It all started through displays of great friendliness between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Anscomb during public appearances as the inaugural train progressed into the Cariboo and toward Prince George.

Mr. Anscomb was an invited guest on the train. When he was finance minister in the Coalition he was vice-president of the PGE.

"MY FRIEND"
He has been repeatedly introduced with a display of warmth by the premier as: "My Conservative friend Mr. Anscomb, always a loyal supporter of the PGE."

Some politicians here suggest Mr. Anscomb does not want to be drawn into a political argument while he is Mr. Bennett's guest on the train, and for that reason declines to comment on the report one way or another.

They point out that Mr. Bennett and Mr. Anscomb were bitter rivals in the Tory party before the Coalition breakup in 1952. Mr. Bennett challenged him for the leadership in a convention of very high feelings in 1950.

Later Mr. Bennett repudiated Mr. Anscomb's leadership by walking across the floor of the legislature to sit with the opposition—a move which was the beginning of the end for Coalition and a forerunner of the rise in the Social Credit party.

Since the Coalition debacle of 1952 Mr. Anscomb has taken little active interest in politics. His place as leader of the provincial Tories was taken over by Deane Finlayson and Mr. Anscomb has devoted his time to business.

The 16-section Metchosin fair produced one of the longest lists of prize-winners in history. The Metchosin Farmer's Institute event, held Saturday, is the second oldest fair on the Island.

Wayne Burton discovered the metal amid driftwood and sand as he hid from friends.

The medal appears identical to those shown in official photographs of the Victoria Cross. The suspender from which the cross hangs is inscribed "S. Mitchell" and the back of the cross is engraved with "April 29, 1884."

Records show that a Captain Samuel Mitchell of the Royal Navy was awarded a Victoria Cross for gallantry. He won it while captain of the foretop on HMS Warrior during an attack in New Zealand waters.

Capt. Mitchell is not listed as a Canadian and there is no record of how the cross found its way to Canada.

Saanichton fair Saturday and day, when the horse show will Park for its fair to be held

Saanichton fair Saturday and Monday will launch the busiest period of Vancouver Island's fall fair program, that will continue to Sept. 20.

First of the district fairs were at Luxton and Ganges, and the Saanichton feature will be the highlight of the Labor Day weekend.

It will be followed by the 47th annual fall fair sponsored by Shawnigan-Cobble Hill Farmers' Institute and Agricultural Society at Cobble Hill Wednesday, when the horse show will be the major attraction.

The next day will mark the opening of the giant three-day Cowichan exhibition at Duncan, largest of the Island's agricultural shows. Here again horses and riding events will constitute the main part of the spectator program.

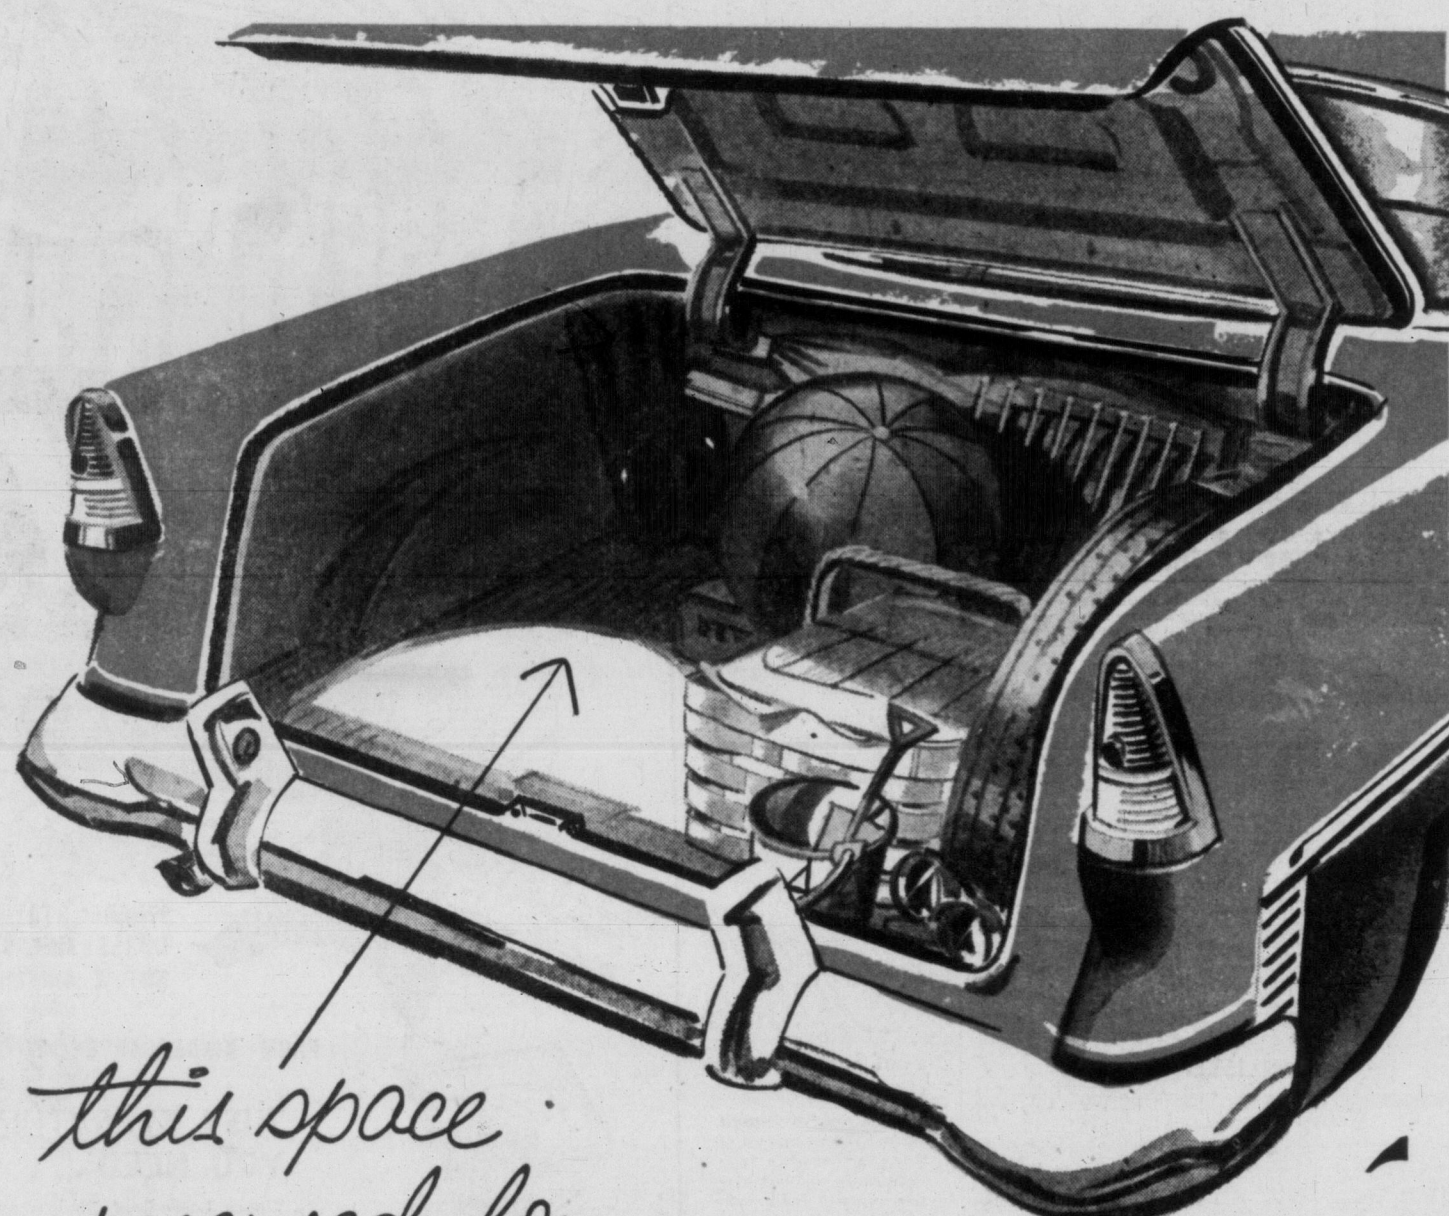

Sooke fall fair will be a one-day affair Sept. 8, and the annual Alberni fair will be open Sept. 6, 8, inclusive.

Nanaimo Exhibition Association is busy preparing Beban Park for its fair to be held 13, 14 and 15. This will be the first year the whole exhibition program has scheduled for the new park.

Last fall on the Island the Ladysmith show 19 and 20, that features field kitchen crafts and garden produce rather than livestock field crops.

'TASS' TOPS ALL IN PNE SHOW

High honors in the horse world were brought to Victoria from the Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver this week by Asatil, six-year-old Arabian stallion owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alan Thompson, Old West Saanich road. Shown here with Mr. Thompson,

"Tass" as he is nicknamed, won grand championship of Arab horse division of big exhibition after being named best Arab stallion over four years old, then best of any age in show. Thompson bought Asatil as a colt, raised and broke him to riding. (Times photo)

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

One of the wonderful things in this wide, wide wonderful world is the abundant supply of Experts.

I am referring, of course, to the amateur, or at the very most, semi-pro Expert.

Of the two, I prefer the amateur Expert, who expects, and gets, no material reward for his efforts.

The semi-pro Expert, who picks up the odd shilling from his Experting in the public prints or over the airwaves, is of great assistance to this wide, wide, wonderful world.

But an Expert who Expert for coin of the realm is not in the same category as the simon-pure Expert, who Expert only to display his Expert knowledge.

(I make no reference to Professional Experts, who are always suspect because they sometimes know what they are talking about.)

There are many types of Experts at large in this wide, wide wonderful world, but there is space available to pay tribute to only a few categories.

The Sports Expert: He always knows why the home team coach (Butch Fidd) shouldn't ought to have played Butch Fidd at (quarterback) (centre field) (silly mid-on) (at all).

The Sports Expert also knows why Butch Fidd should (pass left-handed) (crowd the plate) (stonewall) (drop dead).

The Weather Expert: Look at the weather forecast in the paper, sneers, says the paper is never right, my left front clavicle is aching, so it will rain tomorrow, not be cloudy with sunny periods. Outguesses weatherman Bill Mackie nine times out of ten hundred.

The Gardening Expert: Examines your garden with exclamations of delight, says it is beautiful, but you shouldn't have planted the glads where the morning glories should be and did you ever hear of soil resuscitation?

The Literary Expert: Says you write pretty good, but you shouldn't have tried being funny, why, if he had the time he'd write the funniest book you ever did see.

The Domestic Happiness Expert: (Most of these do it for the money, not the challenge.) Explains how to be happy though married, tells you yours could be a contented household if it weren't for the fact the (wife) (husband) is too (demanding) (undemanding).

The Beauty Contest Expert: An exceptionally useful type expert, for, without his advice, how would you know the third from the right (who won the crown) was much less beautiful than the fifth from the left (who didn't)?

The Child Expert: Knows with absolute certainty you are being too (rough) (lenient) (tolerant) (severe) on the child, and if it were up to HIM...

The Political Expert: (Now very much in season.) Says I'll give you five to one if there is an election Sept. 19, there will be an election Sept. 19.

The After-You-Have-Bought-Something Expert: The most valuable expert of all. After admiring what you have bought, he tells you you shouldn't have bought it.

Intrusion Prepaid Ltd. of Toronto, and Vancouver is expected to begin a $71,000 repair project on Point Ellice Bridge piers Sept. 14 or 15. Completion of the job may take three months. Contractor will fill cavities in the old piers to strengthen them for use as supports for the new bridge to be built next spring. After filling, the workmen will encase the piers in a new concrete shell.

Two Vancouver Island residents, one from Victoria, have been accepted into the regular air force at Halifax, N.S., the RCAF announced today.

They are Thomas A. H. Howard, son of Mrs. C. O. Howard, 1402 Stanley Avenue, who is undergoing training at St. Jean's, Que., and Viola L. Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Savage, Langford, flight cadet at Halifax.

Circle Saturday, Sept. 29, on your calendars as a good night for a party. That's when daylight saving time ends for the year and there'll be an extra hour for celebrating or sleeping it off.

City council summer recess ends this week with probability that all council committees will hold sessions in the first week of September. Early meetings are also slated by the Victoria-Esquamalt Union Board of Health, the Intermunicipal Committee and the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee.

All of them are expected to file recommendations for council action at the first regular

Nature's alarm clock, the rooster, is unappreciated by at least one Hillside resident.

Mrs. A. Carter, 731 Queens, complained to police they were waking her up too early in the morning.

Police investigation showed the solitary offender was owned by a Chinese at 746 Princess. He was out of town and not expected back until next month, but others at the address were cautioned regarding keeping roosters in the city.

City works officials have completed plans for installation of a concrete ramp, a sea-view terrace and a flight of steps descending to the beach at foot of Marlborough at Dallas Road. Work was authorized under capital beautification program and will be paid by part of the recently approved $75,000 grant to Victoria by the province.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city court today: Ronald Caplan, 902 Cook, fined $25 for not having public liability insurance, $25 for not having an adult in his car while learning to drive;

Roy Davis, fined $35 Wednesday for careless driving, restricted to driving only for business for two months;

Lorne Ashton, 1441 Elford, fined $35 for careless driving.

Post of public health educator for Victoria-Esquamalt was vacated today as Keith MacDonald who has held the position for seven years, resigned to return to university for a doctor's degree in medicine.

Authorities said the position will not be immediately filled.

William Templeton, 770 Front, was convicted in city court of stealing a woman's handbag and girdle from a suite at Crystal Court Wednesday about 10 p.m.

He will appear Friday for sentence.

Mrs. Josiah Harbinson, a guest at the motel, complained Templeton entered her room and took the property, valued under $50. The court ordered restitution.

Plea of not guilty was altered to guilty in city court today when James S. Chamberlain answered a charge of taking a car without the owner's consent July 7.

Counsel requested a psychiatric report on his client, and Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded him to Sept. 6 for the report.

Police said Chamberlain rented a car from Dickson's U-Drive Ltd., left the Island for Edmonton, caused $100 damage to the car when it left the Big Bend highway, sold the car radio for $15 in Calgary, sold the spare wheel and tire somewhere between Calgary and Edmonton, then was picked up by the RCMP and returned to Victoria.

Admiral Pullen's Condition Good

The official word on Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, flag officer, Pacific Coast, who is convalescing in HMCS Naden hospital following a minor heart attack is: "Condition very satisfactory."

He will be released from hospital within a few days.

Cleanout Set

Bowker Creek is slated to receive another cleanout by city works department starting next week. Cleaning of city sewers being carried out under an extensive sewer depreciation replacement plan has been halted temporarily until arrival of machinery valued at $4,000 which will speed the process.

Logger Upsets SC Meeting In Esquimalt

Independent logger Jim Gillespie threw an Esquimalt Social Credit meeting into an uproar Wednesday night by continuing his running fight against forest management licences.

Mr. Gillespie tangled with Sacred candidate Herbert Bruch and Labor Minister Lyle Wicks. The Esquimalt logging operator was angered by their staunch refusal to answer his questions or read the "30-percent clause" in the west coast management licence held by B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

Mr. Gillespie claims the government is not supervising the contract which requires the company to farm out 30 per cent of its holdings to small operators.

DISGUSTED

Mr. Bruch replied that he was "disgusted" by opposition attacks on the government's forest management policies and asserted former minister R. E. Sommers "is innocent until proved guilty."

Mr. Wicks declined to enter the dispute.

Earlier in the evening, the labor minister attended a Saanich Social Credit election meeting with candidate John Tisdale.

Asked by a member of his audience why it was necessary to call the election so suddenly and disenfranchise many voters, Mr. Tisdale replied:

"The privilege of registering is open the year round. If people are only going to use their franchise in an emergency, I don't think they are very concerned."

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

New Glasgow returns Esquimalt 9 a.m. Sunday.

Oshawa, Cordova, return Esquimalt, 4 p.m. Monday.

Comox, Fortune, Porte Quebec, returning Friday.

SUNNY SKIES FOR HOLIDAY

Good weather for the start of the holiday weekend was indicated today by weatherman William Mackie, who said the worst to occur Saturday might be cloudy skies with sunny periods.

"Beyond that we can't see anything too serious," he said.

Friday will be mostly sunny, with temperatures ranging between 50 and 68 degrees, and winds light.

Two Youths Admit Guilt In Shop Fracas

Sentence Friday For Wilful Damage

Two young Victoria men were remanded to Friday for sentence on charges of wilful damage under $50 and possession of a spring knife for which they were arrested by city detectives Wednesday night.

David Hansen, 1824 Lillian, and Ronald Curen, address unavailable, pleaded guilty to the charges in city police court today.

The men were picked up following a disturbance in a Chinatown store at 11:40 p.m. Wednesday.

Frank Won, employee in the shop at 546 Cormorant, called police to complain the youths entered the store to use the telephone, spent 10 minutes talking and holding up the line, were told to hurry then threatened to wreck the shop.

SWEPT COUNTER CLEAN

Hansen swept a counter clear of a display of wallets, pens and cigarette lighters, and when another clerk moved to restrain Curen from participating in the altercation, he pulled a spring knife.

Curen dropped the knife, blade open, and the pair drove off in Hansen's car.

Three detectives arrested them a short time later.

Court was told actual damage to the property, owned by Daniel Won, amounted to about $8.

Two Bush Fires Extinguished At Ten-Mile Point

Saanich firemen fought fires for six hours at Ten-Mile Point Wednesday night, succeeding in halting flames from spreading through the wooded residential area.

About 2½ acres of brush and slash were destroyed. Firemen were unable to say how the fires started.

First call came from 2575 Macdonald at 5:13 p.m. Half an acre of brush was burning and was extinguished in an hour.

At 7:45 the second call came from 3943 Telegraph Bay, and was answered by seven firemen from Shelbourne and No. 1 fire stations. This fire covered two acres and was not pronounced out until 12:41 a.m.

Firemen said the entire Ten-Mile Point area, mostly wooded and thick with underbrush, could have burned.

Fumigation Asked At Historic Craighflower School

Saanich Council will be requested to set aside a small portion of the fumigation of historic Craighflower school which is slowly being chewed away by wood-eating insects.

Coun. Leslie Passmore, a member of the board of management for the preservation of the school, said today he will ask council to take action to restore the school to its original condition.

Forest biologists reported two years ago that the "powder post beetle," a relative of the death-watch beetle which has damaged many historic buildings in Europe, is undermining the floor of the school.

Coun. Passmore said the provincial government has agreed to match whatever sum Saanich puts up to restore the school to its original condition.

He said some of the money Saanich will receive for the B.C.'s centennial celebrations should be used for this purpose.

"It is a worthwhile project," he said. "Unless something is done soon, we will lose one of our most historic buildings."

Admiral Pullen's Condition Good

The official word on Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, flag officer, Pacific Coast, who is convalescing in HMCS Naden hospital following a minor heart attack is: "Condition very satisfactory."

He will be released from hospital within a few days.

Cleanout Set

Bowker Creek is slated to receive another cleanout by city works department starting next week. Cleaning of city sewers being carried out under an extensive sewer depreciation replacement plan has been halted temporarily until arrival of machinery valued at $4,000 which will speed the process.

Transit Firms Braced for Rush

50,000 Holiday-Makers On Move This Weekend

More than 50,000 holiday-makers will be on the move, to and from Vancouver Island, over the long Labor Day weekend, transportation companies estimate today.

By air, sea, bus, and private car, the influx and outgo of three-day vacationers will tax all avenues of transport.

As Monday is a holiday in the United States as well as Canada, an exceptionally busy weekend is anticipated by hotel and motor court operators.

B.C. Coast Service of the CPR, Black Ball Lines and Trans-Canada Air Lines, are geared up to handle record crowds.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines will add extra "sections" as needed to regular schedules, and expect to accommodate all passengers.

Among holiday attractions in the south Vancouver Island area are the Saanich Pioneer's celebration of the 50th anniversary, at Beaver Lake Saturday; the Saanich fall fair, Saturday and Monday; and Beaver Lake-Elk Lake swim, Saturday morning.

TCA Schedules Extra Flights

The ferry services expect they will be able to handle all-comers with their regularly-scheduled trips, Victoria-Vancouver, Victoria-Seattle, Victoria-Port Angeles, Sidney-Anacortes, and Nanaimo-Vancouver.

TCA has scheduled extra flights, to and from Vancouver and Seattle, for a total of 101 flights over the weekend. More than 5,500 passengers will be handled.

Full Schedule of Sports

Sports events scheduled include: Salmon Club Derby at Port Angeles, Saturday and Sunday; Esquimalt Cerebral Palsy coho derby Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Auto racing, regular stock car meet at Western Speedway, 7:30 p.m. Saturday; Gold Cup race Monday, time trials 2 p.m. Softball, Firefighters vs. Jordan River, senior B knockout competition, Heywood Avenue Park at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Batches of Babies

A total of 85 mothers have so far entered their babies in the Saanich baby contest, one of the major events of the Saanich centennial birthday party celebrations at Beaver Lake Saturday.

Officials said more applications are expected within the next two days. Dr. John Hunt and Dr. J. G. Patterson will act as judges.

Meanwhile, celebration officials have completed the program of events, including arrangements to direct traffic and to take care of a crowd expected to exceed 15,000.

Volunteers in Charge

The organization and entertainment program will be handled entirely by municipal employees, Saanich police and firemen, assisted by Boy Scouts and representatives of ratepayers' organizations.

The celebrations will kick off with the swimming events for teenagers at Beaver Lake at 9:30 a.m., to be followed by a pipe band concert to start at 1 p.m.

The official opening will take place at 2 p.m., when Reeve Arthur Ash introduces the guests who will include former reeves, councillors, school trustees and police commissioners.

At 2:30 p.m., several contests will get underway. They will include the baby contest, a nail-driving contest for pioneer citizens.

Boat Racing At Willows

Racing drivers from several Vancouver Island points and the mainland will compete in the annual Labor Day regatta at Willows Beach, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Directed by the Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association it will be sponsored by the Oak Bay Jubilee Celebration Committee as one of the features of the municipality's golden jubilee program.

Coun. George Murdoch, chairman of the municipal council celebration committee, will open the regatta and present prizes.

There will be 14 events on the program, for both inboard and outboard racers. It will be the last meet of the year in B.C. to have Canadian Boating Federation sanction, and all points won will go toward standings in national championships.

Graham Fraser of Vancouver will be CBF referee.

New boats that will compete for the first time will be Brock Robertson's Yehudi II, a 135-inch hydroplane that will compete with the speedy Teaser IV of Vancouver, owned and driven by Jimmy Hutchison, and Ron Howard's new 136-inch hydro that was launched today at Oak Bay.

Leading contender will be Joe Van Bergen of Port Alberni, whose 136 hydro is high point boat for B.C. this season.

There will be other entries from Alberni and Port Alberni, Sproat Lake, Campbell River, Nanaimo, Lake Cowichan, Vancouver and Chilliwack.

Thetis Park Timber Cruise Under Way

Council to Study Forester's Report

Timber cruising is being carried on in Thetis Lake park despite the recent announcement that Capital Improvement District Commission is considering taking over the area for development by the province.

City engineer J. C. Garnett said today forester Don Smith is at present carrying out city council instructions and studying what timber can be felled in the park while preserving the beauty.

"I can't deviate from council instructions because of newspaper reports," the engineer said.

NO TENDERS CALLED

July 13 city council approved a plan to call tenders for selective logging of Thetis Lake back areas. Although tenders have not yet been invited a forester formerly employed by Greater Victoria Water District has been employed to examine the area.

His recommendations will be studied by public works committee before logging starts.

Since the decision was reached it was reported the CIDC was negotiating to take over Thetis and Elk Lake Parks for development under a crown corporation. Council indicated unofficially that it might agree to the plan.

But until decision is reached, the city engineers' department is proceeding with the earlier approved project.

Selective logging is expected to yield $60,000 the first year and $15,000 every five years hereafter in a sustained yield basis. Proceeds would be used to develop the park for public usage.

Lumber Company Makes Effort To Reduce Vapor

B.C. Forest Products is making efforts to reduce discharge of vapor from its Gorge Road plywood plant, it was announced Wednesday by the company.

Complaints have been made by Sarah Dean, G. A. Dean and Dorothy Smyth, owners of a converted apartment house opposite the plant, who claim fumes from the dry kiln have made their property unsaleable.

The company is studying temperature controls, filters and other means of vapor abatement.

Manslaughter Hearing Delayed

Preliminary hearing for Roderick J. Graff, 1613 Belmont, charged with manslaughter in connection with the traffic death July 14 of cyclist Reginald Minihinnick, 68, was put over in city court today to Sept. 5.

Minihinnick died in hospital eight days after he was involved in the accident with Graff's car.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—My daughter and I recently visited Ottawa. Will you please tell us the height of the Peace Tower of the Parliament Buildings?—Mrs. E. M. F.

A.—It rises to a height of 293 feet above the carefully tended grounds.

Q.—Where did the word "hands" originate in specifying a horse's measurements?—J.S.

A.—The Oxford English Dictionary traces its use in English as far back as 1561. As a unit of measurement it is interesting to know that at first it was three inches, computed as the breadth of a man's hand and that it was applied in general linear measurement. Gradually as centuries passed it became four inches and eventually it was limited to the measurement of horses' height. The horse always had a prominent place in English civilization, so it is not surprising to observe the growth of the word in the English language.

Answers to questions answered in "Ask The Times" column are invited to send the problem, along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Perforated Note Pad Pages Featured in Handy New Case

By PENNY SAVER

When I discover that I need a little slip of paper on which to jot a name or address, I usually find that my pockets and purse are empty. Chances are my memory is put to the test, and, sometimes fails me when I try to recall details. Yes, I have a little address book tucked away in the jungle of my purse, but when I want to give a name or some other information to someone else, it's necessary to tear out a page, and this plays havoc with the little book. There's a handy note pad in a plastic fold-over case that looks like leather, and this pad will solve the problems. Each page is divided into quarters by perforations so that you may easily and neatly tear out a piece of paper.

The case is smart, and has metal corners for durability. The case and pad cost 35 cents, and the pads may be replaced.

Dainty feather dusters are charmingly old fashioned, but they've been given a new treatment, and have been sprayed with DDT against moths. On bamboo handles, the puffs of feathers are mauve, blue, pink, black and white, green or yellow. They would make useful and attractive gifts, and are moderately priced at 49 cents.

Another bamboo handled budget-buy is a lawn rake. These rakes are a "must" for those of you who mow the lawns around your house. The price of these will amaze you, and send you right down to take advantage of the sale. They're just 29 cents each!

Breakfast in bed can be a luxury or a chore, depending on whether you're just sleeping

in or are feeling under the weather. In either case, a specially constructed tray for the purpose will make things much easier. No more balancing trays, now, for there's a modern bed tray out with wrought iron legs. A pleasant pastoral scene is on the tray itself, which, though securely attached, can be removed.

These trays are a boon to those of us who like to sit on the floor to watch TV and have a snack. For informal buffet meals, too, you'll find people most comfortable sitting on cushions on the floor with one of these handy trays in front of them. They're yours at $3.98 each.

Yesterday I gave you the first of a set of proposed rules to guide shoppers. Here's the second: Read Advertisements carefully—not just the headlines and bold type, but the small type as well.

Tunics and Capes Shown By a Famed Couturier

PARIS (Reuters)—Balenciaga's new fashion showing in Paris reiterates his belief in tunics and capes.

When the rest of Paris picked up the tunic two seasons ago, critics felt it was a passing trend. But Balenciaga features the ¾ and 9-10-length tunic in coats and dresses as the main theme of this new collection.

Hemlines are noticeably shorter, striking just below the knee. This length, paired with the long stove-pipe tunic, reveals merely an inch or two of underskirt showing at the hemline.

There are "nightshirt" tunics which button from neckline to waist or hip length, with neat shirt-front panels. They must be stepped into, or drawn over the head.

ROUNDED SHOULDERS

Even Balenciaga's classic little semi-fitted short suit jackets are shown with tiered tunic skirts, generally 9-10-length. The now-classic suit jackets and coats repeat the famed signatures as the wide, rounded "football player" shoulders; the collarless setaway necklines; bevelled and crenellated hems; welted seams; and straight bracelet length sleeves.

Movie star Paulette Goddard viewed the collection Tuesday wearing one of the master's typical colors: A vivid tomato red.

There are warm coral and lobster pinks, besides many blinding violets and fuchsia shades.

Balenciaga's hats follow the trend toward the top-heavy type of inverted bowl and cassiole. Some resemble hollowed-out volleyballs.

In Honor of the Bride

A surprise shower in honor of Miss Pat MacLean was held recently by Miss Colleen Cameron, 1906 Leighton road. On her arrival, the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. G. MacLean, received corsages of pink roses and carnations, respectively. Many gifts were presented in a large decorated box. Invited guests were Mrs. C. Posthuma, Mrs. M. G. Thompson, Mrs. O. Harris, Mrs. W. Gaetz, Mrs. H. Lavell, Mrs. B. Cameron, Misses B. Pettigrew, M. Hughes, B. Johnson, L. Lienweber, C. Chue and R. Sharpe.

Romance

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Languages graduate Betty Jeanne McDougall was married in Rome to Count Leone of San Martino, Italy. Three Italian NATO students taught by the bride when she was a language instructor at an RCAF station here were guests.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

'If I Could Only Date My Husband Again'—Reader

The following quotation from a reader's letter highlights a problem which is prevalent in many homes.

"I had a nervous breakdown not long ago which could have been prevented if my husband had allowed me to hire a baby sitter once in a while anyway, over the years. I had never been away from my children at all for nine years until I went away for a long rest."

"If I could only date my husband again! I know a wonderful woman who comes to stay with the children of our friends, and we could afford to hire her if my husband would only agree to do so. I do not think he realizes how hard I have worked ever since we have been married."

On first impulse we wonder, "What sort of a house is he?" Actually, it is impossible for anyone who has not had the care of a home along with the responsibility of caring for young children to know what a constant and wearying job that can be. While the man in the family works hard for eight hours a day he is away from the confusion which young children create and the constant supervision they require.

TODAY'S RECIPE

OLIVEBURGER CASSEROLE

One cup ripe olives, 1 large onion, 1 pound ground beef, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 (8-ounce) can tomato hot sauce, 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon chili powder, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup sweet pickle relish, biscuit topping.

Biscuit Topping: 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup cooking oil, ½ cup cold milk.

Cut olives into medium-sized pieces; slice onion. Cook onion and meat in shortening until onion is soft and meat lightly browned. Add tomato sauce, water, seasonings and pickle relish. Bring to a boil and turn into a 1½ or 2-quart casserole (or use skillet in which mixture is cooked). Drop small spoonfuls of biscuit topping around edge of casserole. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. To serve: place biscuit on plate and "spoon" burger mixture over top.

Biscuit Topping: Sift flour, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Add oil and milk, and mix to moderately stiff dough. Spoon over hot meat mixture in casserole.

Most important, he has some companionship with his contemporaries. No matter how fascinating you find the cute sayings of Junior or how intriguing it is to watch your child develop day by day, a mature person requires some mature companionship.

A woman should get away from the four walls of her house and the prattle of children regularly, and the husband who does not realize this is extremely shortsighted. Yet many women actually are trapped in their own homes and never see any other woman except when they take the children along with them.

A baby sitter, periodically, is the best health insurance a man could give a woman. She will come back refreshed from these short releases. She will keep her own individuality rather than turning into a robot geared only to feed, bathe, dress and monitor small fry.

Otherwise the man himself will be the loser sooner or later because his wife probably will age prematurely, her interests will have narrowed and she may lose the romantic attitude.

Even if the pennies are hard to come by, the man of the family should insist that she have relief regularly from her home duties, and take her on dates as often as he can! This is vital to his wife's health as well as her happiness.

Colors for Older Woman

What colors are proper for a mature woman to wear? This question often gets asked and, like so many questions that bear on individual characteristics, there is no one answer.

Often one feels that a woman who asks such a question is seeking an answer such as "lavender and black" that will remove from her the necessity of making choices when buying clothes. One feels she seeks an answer that will allow her to go straight to the proper clothes rack and select clothes without thought or effort.

Some mature women are of such coloration and shape that they can wear blazing red without looking unsuitable. Others are of such coloring that plain black is the worst choice possible.

Certainly, if one is a dignified person and one's reserve has increased with the years, dignified colors are in order. But this doesn't mean all black. Black-and-white is nice. So is all-white. So are the chocolate browns and the desert colors. Colors that look well with one's changing skin coloration are good choices.

WHAT ARE "CULTURED" PEARLS?

Cultured pearls are lustrous gems created by nature in the depths of the ocean. They are started by planting a mother-of-pearl seed in a living oyster, where it becomes coated with layers of pearl "nacre". Fashioned into jewellery, pearls are as versatile as they are beautiful; a lovely complement to tailored, afternoon or evening clothes. Their glowing beauty increases with the years.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

When I was in Quebec City a few weeks ago I was "picked up." It happened near the post office in a pretty little park, shaded with green trees, and overlooking the St. Lawrence River.

Bessie

This park occupies the site of the old Parliament House in which was held the famous Quebec Conference that brought about the Confederation of the British Provinces of North America.

I was busy with light meter and camera when I heard a sweet young voice say, "You are perhaps a v-e-e-sitor in Quebec City?" And I looked up into the delicate, elfin-like face of an 18-year-old girl. Her light brown hair was blowing in the breeze from the river. She was wearing a pink cotton frock and a white sweater and she carried several books.

Her name was Lysa, she said, and she lived far down the Gaspé peninsula. She was in Quebec City for a six-week summer course at famed Laval University.

"I learn to s-p-e-e-k the good English," she said, "it is well to know this English."

We sat on the edge of the great stone wall, beside a battery of huge guns and we talked. With my few words of French, her halting, but delightful English, and, of course with our hands. There was an examination that morning, Lysa told me. But she was not ready for it. So, her instructor had sent her out on another assignment.

She was to find an English-speaking person and talk to that person for an hour or more in English.

That's how I happened to be "picked up."

Browsing in Famed Laval

Lysa invited me on a conducted tour of Laval, so we set off along a steep narrow street that follows the ramparts to a long lane-like passageway. This led to a courtyard and to the doorways through which thousands of students have entered the famed university.

We went to the lecture halls, we peeked into the professors' rooms, the chemistry labs, the physics rooms and the mechanical science rooms, filled with specimens of every modern invention or appliance.

We spent some time in the library where there are more than 350,000 books.

Under Lysa's gentle prompting we took an old-fashioned elevator to a top floor where the art gallery and museum is located. The curator, who spoke some English accompanied us on a tour of the gallery.

We were shown the Royal Charter given to Laval by Queen Victoria in 1852; letters written during the XVIIth century and signed by Louis XIV, Anne d'Aurichie and Marie Therese.

There were lovely old pieces of furniture that came to the new world from France; a collection of some of Canada's first stamps; a wonderful art collection from Canadian, Italian, French, Dutch, Spanish and English schools. The names Lebrun, Puget, Joseph Vernet, Reynolds, Rosa, D'Albani and Romanelli, were spoken over and over again.

Summer Language Classes

Before we left the great old building, Lysa took me along to a very large, high-ceilinged classroom, where several groups of students were studying under professors. In these groups were nuns and monks, business men and well dressed women, young boys and girls.

I heard one group intoning in English "This is a book. I open this book." Another group was speaking in halting French.

"You see, they come from m-a-n-ee to s-p-e-e-k this English and also to s-p-e-e-k the French. The-s summer course is very b-u-s-e-e," Lysa told me.

In the elevator as we returned to the ground floor was a group of young girls from the United States. They knew Lysa and they spoke to her in a garbled selection of French and English. She answered in the same fashion and they all laughed in friendly merriment.

"It is much fun," she told me, as we left the university, "and I met m-a-n-ee new friends."

I asked Lysa why she wished to learn English. Did she not have her own French language?

"Oh-h-h!" she said, "with you it is d-e-e-fer-ent. You do not need the French where you live. Here, in Quebec, we must have the English, if we would work, if we would live."

We said "au revoir" at the entrance to the long lane-like passageway that leads to the courtyard of the university. We promised to write to each other—in English.

I walked back up the narrow cobble-stoned street and along the ramparts. I had enjoyed the experience of being "picked up" in Quebec City.

Miss Nancy Chew Wed In Double-Ring Ceremony

Recently in Centennial United Church, Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiated at a double-ring wedding ceremony in which Miss Nancy Chew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chew Dang, 4846 West Saanich road, became the bride of James Alan Sing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loo Sing, 1717 Blair road. Organist, Mrs. Margaret Wilmshurst accompanied soloist, Toby Oldfield, who sang "Because" during the signing of the register. Baskets of asters formed the background for the ceremony, and pews were marked with apple blossoms and bows.

The bride chose a floor-length gown fashioned on princess lines with a long train of bridal satin, a bodice that featured a scoop neckline and empire waistline with gathers at the sides and back of the skirt. Sleeves tapered to lily points at the wrists. Her waist-length veil was held to a headdress of nylon tulle dotted with tiny seed pearls. She wore a double strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the groom. Her bouquet was of red roses and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Alan H. Johnston in a blue and silver brocade gown with

Say Farewell To Scoutmaster

Mr. and Mrs. A. Newcomb, Florence Lake Road, Langford, leave today for England, their former home. They came to Canada and to Langford less than a year ago and Mr. Newcomb became Scoutmaster for Langford Scouts and assisted in this group's reorganization.

In honor of Mr. Newcomb, a farewell party was held in the Canadian Legion Hall by members of the scout group committee. Scouts and their parents attended. Refreshments were served and entertainment was provided in the form of skits by the Boy Scouts.

On behalf of the group committee, the president, William McDowell, presented Mr. Newcomb with an autograph album and a gift of money. Courtney Loggin presented him with an initialed cigarette lighter from the Boy Scouts.

In Seattle

riage Miss Janet Carrie Olson and Kenneth Joseph Jenks. Organist was Tom Richardson.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Olson, Burns Lake, was given in marriage by Arthur Barnes. For the ceremony Miss Olson wore a pale blue suit complemented with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

She was attended by Miss Bunney Carter of Victoria, who wore a navy blue suit with pink accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

The groom, son of Mrs. Dorothy Jenks, 2622 Millstream Road, Langford, and the late Mr. Leonard F. Soares, had Peter Getz as best man.

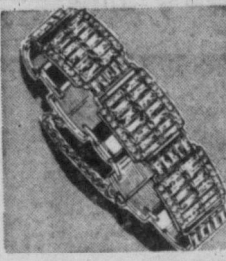

A reception followed at the home of the groom's mother, where Joseph Hunter proposed the toast to the bride.

Following a trip through the interior of the province, the newlyweds will live in New Hazelton, B.C., where the bride will teach.

No-Host Luncheon

Prior to her departure from Victoria earlier this week, Miss Dorothy Walker, a visitor from Nottingham, Eng., was honor guest at a small no-host luncheon in Eaton's dining room. Others present were members of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Barbara Ann Stovall, age 13, Alba, Texas, for her question:

How Do You Raise a Baby Rabbit?

Was your bunny's mother a tame rabbit? Or did you find the furry little bundle in the wild? In either case, the darling makes a charming pet. But you cannot expect too much of a wild rabbit. Certain strains of rabbit have been tame for 2,000 years. These bunnies are used to people. Some can learn to do tricks and a few smart ones have been house broken. A wild bunny will learn to love you, but he never quite gets over his shyness.

Wild or tame, a baby bunny depends on his mamma for two to three weeks. She feeds him milk while he learns to chew solid food and forage for himself. If your baby bunny has lost his mamma, he will need a little bottle feeding for two to three weeks. Feed him morning and evening and give him plenty of time to doze in a soft, cosy nest.

A tame rabbit will settle for a nest of shavings or strips of paper. A wild bunny will feel more at home in a nest of grasses and leaves. Mrs. Cotter, who has a wild bunny, says: "So a soft blanket may also help. Cover a very young rabbit with grass, leaves or shavings while he sleeps."

Nursery days are over when baby bunny is about three weeks old. He is happier with brothers and sisters to play with. Make sure his hutch is high and dry. Cover the floor with shavings or bits of paper. Fix a pan of water so that he cannot kick it over. He needs to gnaw on something to keep his teeth filed down. So put fresh twigs in his hutch.

Make sure his home is kept perfectly clean. Change the floor covering every day and scrub the inside of the box about once a week. Lift him with his heavier hind quarters resting on your arm. Never, never lift a bunny by the ears.

Your sweet pet does not eat meat. He thrives on grasses, cereals, roots and berries. Feed him plenty of bran, moist but not wet. Hay is also good for him. Give him a raw carrot once in a while. He loves lettuce, grass and cabbage. But too much green stuff is not good for him. Too much cabbage can really give him a tummy ache. So he gets salad stuff only once every day or so, and then not too much.

Everybody loves to watch a bunny eat. His funny nose wriggles up and down as he solemnly munches away. A wild rabbit may not let you see him eat. But in his food and don't worry if he seems to turn to stone whenever you go near him. He thinks he is hiding from you. In the wild, his coat matches his surroundings. He is born knowing that if he stays quite still he may be overlooked by his enemies. Go quietly away and he will eat when he feels safe.

Andy sends a Hammond Ambassador World Atlas to John Regan, age 13, Sioux Falls, S.D., for his question:

How many islands are there in the world?

Andy has never got around to counting all the islands in the world. Nor does he know anyone who has. So he has made arrangements for John to find the number out for himself. The gift Atlas is the best way to begin.

Start with a map of the whole world and begin with the biggest islands. Australia is the largest continent, New Guinea, Borneo and Madagascar come next in size. When you have the big ones listed, turn to maps of countries and start on the smaller ones.

Count up the islands that make up Japan, the East Indies and West Indies. Then total up the smaller islands in the Aleutians and other archipelagos. Don't forget the off-shore islands of Scandinavia. Find all the islands marked in bays and harbors.

The job will be tougher when you get to all the little islands in lakes and rivers. There are some three thousand little lakes in Lake Ontario alone. And don't forget to look up the islands in the Big Sioux river. Yes, those boulders near the falls are islands, for they are bits of land surrounded by water. An island can be any size it chooses.

Counterfeiting Conductor Caught on Retirement Eve

MONTREAL (CP) — Joseph Emile Payette, 68-year-old street-car conductor scheduled to retire on pension Wednesday night, was given a suspended sentence Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to forging and uttering counterfeit 25-cent pieces.

Payette was placed on bond of $500 to keep the peace until Dec. 28. Failing this, he will be "more severely dealt with," said Judge Irene Lagarde.

Payette has had 30 years' service with the Montreal Tramways Company and its successor, the Montreal Transportation Commission.

Gaston Lacroix, prosecutor for the RCMP, said Payette put about $10 worth of counterfeit quarters into circulation every week by giving them in change to streetcar passengers.

Superintendent Edward Brakefield-Moore of the RCMP said the coins "rang true" and that Payette had admitted making them from damaged silver trays bought from pawnbrokers.

AMONG CPA CRASH VICTIMSPGE TRACK RIPPED UP
AS 'SPECIAL' RETURNS

SQUAMISH, B.C. (CP)—A Pacific Great Eastern freight train was derailed late Wednesday, ripping up more than 300 feet of track north of here.

Five of nine cars in the train left the track after a wheel of one gave at a curve near Cheakamus station. The derailed cars crashed into the side of the cutting. There were no injuries.

A three-section inaugural train opening a new section between here and Vancouver, 40 miles south, was held up more than 16 hours Monday by a landslide. It was to leave Prince George this morning for the return trip.

Burned; 4 Die

PORTLAND (AP)—A woman and three children died in the blistering heat of a fire that swept through their home here as they slept today.

The victims were Mrs. Elizabeth L. Murray, 34, in whose home the fire occurred; her son, Dean, 6; her daughter, Diane, 4; and six-month-old Terry Sanderson.

Assaulter Held

WINNIPEG (CP)—Less than 24 hours after a five-year-old girl had been criminally assaulted in a back lane near her home, police arrested a man for the offence.

Otto Tonn, 45, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to indecently assaulting the girl. He was remanded until Friday for sentence.

Hope Going Fast

EDMONTON (CP)—Officials of Northern Transportation Co. said today that they have almost completely given up hope of finding any survivors from the eight-man crew of the company tug Clearwater.

It disappeared Monday in a gale on Lake Athabasca, 450 miles northeast of here, while towing three barges of cargo from the mouth of the Athabasca river to Gunsmoke at Crackington-point, 100 miles away.

Pipeline Progress

CALGARY (CP)—Contractors working on the western section of the Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. project have placed into the ground about 83 miles of 34-inch pipe, company officials reported today.

Working on two of the four construction spreads to lay the line from Burnstall, Sask., near the Alberta border, to Winnipeg, are Majestic Contractors and Canadian Bechtel Ltd. Construction on the remaining two spreads has been held up by a lack of pipe.

2 RCAF Jets
Set Record
Cross-Canada

HALIFAX (CP)—Two RCAF Sabre jet pilots set a cross-Canada landed at Shearwater Naval Air Station here five hours and 30 seconds after leaving Vancouver.

The jets roared aloft at Vancouver's Sea Island Airport at 6:58 a.m. PDT and touched down here at exactly 3:58 p.m. ADT, 12:58:30 a.m. PDT, the air force reported.

Best previous time was six hours and 13 minutes, set by a T-33 jet trainer that flew across the country last January.

Pilots in today's flights were Flt. Lt. Ralph H. Annis, 25, of McAdam, N.B., and FO R. J. (Chick) Childerhouse, 27, of Arcola, Sask.

Their only stop on the 2,470-mile transcontinental dash, with a 10-minute pause at Gimli, Man. Two other Sabres left Vancouver at the same time but they touched down for a second stop at St. Hubert, Que., near Montreal.

Canada's Extremes

High—Toronto 74

In 'Big Accident'

BY TONY DICKASON

Nancy, 5, knows daddy has been in a "big accident." Billy, 4, has a tot's idea something is wrong but Susan, 2, today is just her usual wide-eyed and happy elfish self.

These are the children of co-pilot Robert Love, 28, and pretty wife Beatrice, 25, 2789 Benson Place.

He is one of the survivors of the Alaska CPA crash. "It's wonderful, it's wonderful," Mrs. Love said over and over again today when she learned Bob was alive.

She first heard of the crash at about 6:30 a.m. today from CPA. The company promised to keep her informed.

Relief erased frantic worry shortly after 8 a.m. when a wire came from Bob. It read "everything alright."

Said Mrs. Love of her husband of six years, "he's such a wonderful pilot, but every time he leaves us here I tell him to be careful, and think of the children."

The second officer's parents also live in Victoria, at 463

ROBERT LOVE
...co-pilot

Chester. Said Mrs. W. F. Love: "Oh heavens we are relieved, but we're worried as to what sort of injuries he may have."

Robert Love is Victoria-born and attended Oak Bay High and Victoria College.

He joined the RCAF and graduated with pilot's wings from Centralia, Ont., winning the Armstrong-Siddeley Trophy for getting the highest marks of the graduating class.

He was six years in the RCAF as an instructor of NATO airmen, then spent a short time with the provincial forestry service in Chilliwack.

Co-Pilot, of This City,
One of 7 Survivors

VANCOUVER (CP)—A giant Canadian Pacific airliner caught fire in the air and crashed Wednesday night on the southwestern coast of Alaska and 15 of 22 persons aboard were dead or missing. The other seven survived.

Four Victorians were aboard.

Second Officer Robert Love, 28, is listed among the injured survivors. His wife and three children reside at 2789 Benson Place.

Victoria Chinese, Chan Tai and Chow Eng Hai, both in their 20s, and Lee Lock, 60, are listed as "dead or unaccounted for."

The four-engine DC6B airliner, bound from Vancouver to Tokyo with eight crew members and 14 passengers, went down on a tidal flat near the CPA refueling base at Cold Bay, 1,710 miles northwest of here and 750 miles southeast of Anchorage at the extreme tip of the peninsula.

The plane was reported to have made one pass over the field and was making a second approach when it crashed short of the runway.

Cmdr. W. W. Clark, executive officer of the United States navy's station at Kodiak, said the pilot radioed just before the crash that the plane was on fire.

A few hours after the crash came in bad weather, a rising tide began to flood the wreckage and hampered men searching for the missing.

Learned to Fly When 11 Years Old

Survivors included the plane's captain, Thornton Alexander Tweed, 32, whose bush pilot father taught him to fly when he was 11 years old and who was the youngest pilot ever to solo in Canada. Captain Tweed, whose father died in a plane crash at Juneau, Alaska, in 1939, was injured.

The other survivors included three other members of the plane's crew and three passengers.

They were: Second Officer Love, Stewardess Doores Jordan, 26, whose father, Robert Jordan, lives in Calgary.

Sharon Edelstein, 16, and her sister Patricia, 7, daughters of Ted Edelstein, CPA manager at Hong Kong.

York Sing Chan, Vancouver, one of 10 Oriental passengers, Name of one crew member was not available immediately.

CPA said crew members unaccounted for or dead were: First Officer Philip D. Iverson, 37, Vancouver.

Stewardess Evelyn Lee, 26, of Vancouver.

Stewardess Anita Wong, 25, of Vancouver.

First Officer Iverson was a regular captain who was making a familiarization flight for overseas duty. He had been flying for CPA out of Whitehorse, Y.T.

The other two western passengers aboard were Canadian Catholic priests, Rev. James MacIntosh of St. Andrews, N.S., and Rev. Vincent McGough of Toronto. They had sent a cable to the Scarborough Foreign Mission in Tokyo saying they were leaving Vancouver on flight 307, the one that crashed.

The plane was carrying less than half of its capacity load of 52 passengers when it left Vancouver at 5:30 p.m. PDT. The flight to Cold Bay normally takes seven hours.

When the plane went down at 9:48 p.m., Kodiak time (12:48 a.m. PDT), U.S. rescue units sent out two amphibian planes—one from Kodiak and one from Adak—and two ships—the coast guard cutter Winona and the freighter Tom Bigbee, to search for the missing persons. The hunt was hampered by extremely bad weather. Each of the planes carried a doctor and medical supplies.

The injured persons rescued were to be flown to Elmendorf Field near Anchorage.

Cmdr. Clark said at least four of them were so badly injured they could not be moved without a doctor's aid.

Star Red Athlete
Hunted by Police

LONDON (UP)—Mrs. Nina Ponomareva, 210-pound Soviet Olympic discus champion, vanished today before she could be tried on charges she shoplifted five pastel berets from a London bargain basement.

Magistrate Clyde Wilson issued a warrant for the rearrest of the 27-year-old athlete but police said they could not find her at the Soviet Embassy, the consul or at the hotel where she has been staying.

Nina was arrested Wednesday for stealing five 90-cent pastel hats — "bakers boy berets" — from a cut-rate London department store. She was released without bail in the custody of a Soviet diplomat and ordered to show up in court today.

Police were still uncertain whether she was being hidden by Russian friends or whether the frightened and disgraced Olympic star had simply disappeared with her grief and embarrassment to avoid Soviet officials.

Two women store detectives seized the heavily muscled mother Wednesday while she was looking at capitalistic fripperies in London shops during time off from training for a track meet.

She was booked at West End central police station and ordered to appear at Marlborough Street court at 10:30 a.m. Soviet Consul General Alexander Starsev promised to bring her to court and she was released without bail.

Magistrate Wilson called the case three times but neither Nina nor the diplomat showed up.

The barrel-chested, 27-year-old teacher and mother of one son, who won the women's discus title in the 1952 Olympics, was one of the Soviet Union's brightest hopes on the Soviet Olympic team which meets British track challengers here this weekend.

But today she was an outcast, shunned by embarrassed fellow team members.

Wednesday night at the Bayswater Hotel, teammates turned their backs on their star performer.

The husky athlete looked like a tearful little girl when she climbed the stairs to her room —without any supper.

Gaglardi to Push New Island Roads

Start Next Year on Extending Island Highway to Rt. McNeill

A new road link with the forest-and-minerals-rich northern tip of Vancouver Island is scheduled to be started next year, Highway Minister Gaglardi announced Wednesday.

The multi-million dollar project, involving extension of the Island Highway on the east coast from Kelsey Bay to Port McNeill, was first disclosed during the last legislative session when Mr. Gaglardi referred to a "10 year plan."

Negotiations have been proceeding for the past few months between the government and industrial firms in the area and Mr. Gaglardi announced Wednesday that Alaska Pine and Cellulose has agreed to share the cost of the road.

Department of highways engineers will be sent to the area "as quickly as possible" to choose a route, the minister said.

The coastal route between Kelsey Bay and Port McNeill, about 50 miles, would be the shortest but may be too expensive because of rough terrain.

The alternative is a longer inland route through the Nimpkish Valley.

Long-range plans also call for construction of a number of roads on the tip linking such communities as Holberg, Coal Harbor, Port Alice, Englewood, Zeballos, Tahsis and Telegraph Cove.

Alaska Pine has operations at many of these points. Mr. Gaglardi said he did not know whether the company planned any expansion in connection with the road.

A number of recently-discovered mineral deposits in the Quatsino area would also benefit. Inaccessible farming land could be developed.

"This road will liberate people who now are bottled up in the area," Mr. Gaglardi said. The upper island highway is also envisioned as a main route to Kitimat and upcoast points.

Mr. Gaglardi said Black Ball Ferries Ltd. had expressed interest in establishing a service from Port Hardy to Kitimat. Port McNeill and Port Hardy are already linked by a road.

WEST-AIDING PAKISTANI DIES AT 61

KARACHI: Pakistan (UP) — Funeral services were scheduled today for former Governor-General Ghulam Muhammad, the man chiefly responsible for aligning Pakistan with the West.

Muhammad died of a heart ailment Wednesday night at the age of 61.

As governor-general from 1951 to August, 1955, Ghulam Muhammad negotiated the agreements aligning Pakistan with the United States and later directed his nation to membership in the British-sponsored Baghdad Pact.

Polish Lothario Sentenced to Die For Six Murders

KRAKOW, Poland (Reuters) — Wladyslaw Mazurkiewicz, dubbed the Polish Don Juan, was sentenced to death here today for murdering four men and two women.

Mazurkiewicz, 45, a handsome man-about-town, admitted the murders when the trial opened and then withdrew his confession in the final stages.

He was alleged to have killed his victims between 1943 and 1955, disposing of the bodies of the four men in the River Vistula.

He was said to have buried two sisters—one of them still alive—in a hole in his garage.

The court was told he killed for money to meet his taste for high living.

Anscomb's Position Puzzles Politicians

(Special to the Times) — PRINCE GEORGE—Reports that former B.C. Progressive Conservative Party leader and finance minister Herbert Anscomb has patched up his long-standing feud with Premier W. A. C. Bennett and may support the Social Credit Party are keeping politicians abuzz aboard the special PGE inaugural train.

The rumors gained credence today when Mr. Anscomb declined to make any comment, saying he wanted time to consider his answer.

It all started through displays of great friendliness between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Anscomb during public appearances as the inaugural train progressed into the Cariboo and toward Prince George.

Mr. Anscomb was an invited guest on the train. When he was finance minister in the Coalition he was vice-president of the PGE.

"MY FRIEND" — He has been repeatedly introduced with a display of warmth by the premier as: "My Conservative friend Mr. Anscomb, always a loyal supporter of the PGE."

Some politicians here suggest Mr. Anscomb does not want to be drawn into a political argument while he is Mr. Bennett's guest on the train, and for that reason declines to comment on the report one way or another.

They point out that Mr. Bennett and Mr. Anscomb were bitter rivals in the Tory party before the Coalition breakup in 1952. Mr. Bennett challenged him for the leadership in a convention of very high feelings in 1950.

Later Mr. Bennett repudiated Mr. Anscomb's leadership by walking across the floor of the legislature to sit with the opposition—a move which was the beginning of the end for Coalition and a forerunner of the rise in the Social Credit party.

Since the Coalition debacle of 1952 Mr. Anscomb has taken little active interest in politics. His place as leader of the provincial Tories was taken over by Deane Finlayson and Mr. Anscomb has devoted his time to business.

Address UN Meeting

GENEVA (Reuters). — Lord Attlee, former British prime minister, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will address the 11th assembly of the World Federation of United Nations Associations in Geneva, it was announced Wednesday.

LPP's in Moscow

LONDON (CP) — A delegation of the Labor-Progressive party of Canada, headed by general secretary Newcomb, Wednesday held talks in Moscow with leading Russian officials, including Nikita Khrushchev, secretary of the Communist party, Moscow radio reported. The talks were said to have taken place "in a spirit of true friendship and complete mutual understanding between the two fraternal parties."

FRIED CHICKEN

PAN FRIED CHICKEN

Coat chicken pieces with seasoned flour. (For each pound of chicken, blend ¼ cup flour, 1 tsp. salt, ½ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. paprika. If you prefer, add ½ tsp. poultry seasoning.) Brown pieces in about ½-inch hot fat in frying pan: turn to brown evenly. Reduce heat so fat just simmers. Cover tightly. Fry 30 to 40 minutes. Uncover pan for last 5 minutes to re-crisp the skin.
